

Milton Young

Milton is the President of the Asian Chamber of Commerce. He brings a diverse background to the Chamber's management team. He has held domestic and global positions in operations, supply chain, product development, finance and engineering at McCoy Global, TechnipFMC, Whirlpool, ExxonMobil and General Motors.

A leader in supply chain management, he has presented at ProcureCon, the Institute of Supply Management's annual conference, the Stanford Global Supply Chain Management Forum, and Michigan State University's Broad China Supply Chain Forum. He has been a panelist on the North American Research Symposium on Purchasing and Supply Management, the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers (AHAM) Supplier Manufacturer Forum and the US Pan-Asian Chamber of Commerce Business Leaders Roundtable. Milton is a seven time Supply & Demand Chain Executive (SDCE) Magazine "Business Pro to Know" and the 2007 "Pro of the Year".

As the Yale Science and Engineering Association's Industry Relations Committee chair and Texas vice-president, Milton organized Yale University's first STEM career fair and Dallas WEST, an event to introduce Dallas-area middle school and high school girls to STEM fields, education and careers.

Milton was team member on the "Neighborhood Memorials" project that was named a semifinalist in the 2016 National Park Service/National Capital Planning Commission's Memorials for the Future Competition.

Milton has volunteered with the Boys and Girls Club of Kendall (FL), the United Ways of Miami-Dade County and Southwest Michigan, the City of South Miami's Hometown Public Charrette and the Council on World Class Communities' Government Domain Planning Committee.

Milton serves on the advisory board of the Swalm School of Engineering at Mississippi State University and is a founding board member of Arizona State University's Network for Value Chain Excellence. He has sponsored multidisciplinary student projects at Arizona State University, Texas A&M University and the University of Louisiana at Lafayette.

Milton holds degrees from Mississippi State University, Yale University and Northwestern University. He is a member of the Academy of Management and the Project Management Institute.