

LearningRx-Huntsville is a Cognitive Training Center that works to improve the ability to learn, regardless of age or learning struggle! Rather than focus on knowledge and the never-ending plethora of facts and information that can be learned, LearningRx concentrates on how the brain receives, connects, stores, and retrieves information. By building the brains ability to do these things efficiently, learning struggles can be a thing of the past!

While it is true that many of our clients are school-aged children, that's really only part of the story. You would be correct if you said that we help students who are Dyslexic, those who have ADHD, struggling readers, and those who just have a hard time learning; but it's also true that we work with adults who find that they are losing their quickness, forgetting important information, and struggling to keep up mentally. Additionally, we work with those who have had Traumatic Brain Injuries, PTSD, and those who want to build a "reserve" to fight against Cognitive Decline-even College Students who want to be faster at their tasks find our services beneficial!

We are proud to announce that we are celebrating our tenth year here in Huntsville this month. Thank you to our many clients and the Business Community for all of the love and support you have shown us! Come by our office at 49 SH75 N and mention that you saw this article-we will be happy to give you a "taste" of what we do!

The Woodlands
10857 Kuykendahl, Suite 240
The Woodlands, TX 77382
832-482-3082

Huntsville
49 SH 75 N
Huntsville, TX 77320
936-295-4579

Spring
9720 Cypresswood, Suite 240
Houston, TX 77070
832-698-2450