INTRODUCTION

This privacy policy (“Privacy Policy”) defines the policies of the Byron Center Chamber of Commerce, Inc., (“the Chamber”) regarding information it obtains through its Website and/or the services which the Chamber provides to its members and to the community it serves.

PRIVACY POLICY

Any information about a person, company or organization which the Chamber obtains in the course of its business will be provided all possible, reasonable protection from unauthorized access and/or use, except as otherwise provided herein. Said information in any form (collectively “the Information”) may be stored in hard copy within the Chamber’s facilities and/or in electronic form within the Chamber’s computers.

The Chamber may, at its sole discretion, sell to its members mailing lists of all members, but will not provide e-mail addresses or other information.

The Chamber will use any or all of the Information as needed for operation of its services and events, including without limitation providing the related Information to third-party entities serving those services and events.

Any financial information needed for operation of the Chamber’s services and events which is obtained by the Chamber from – and/or is provided by – members and non-members, including without limitation numbers and other information concerning credit/debit cards, is provided to, and retained by, third-party entities as part of their service to the Chamber. Protection of that information is the responsibility of those third-parties and is subject to their practices and policies.
