Karen Daniels, Morning Show Host, 93-7JRfm

Karen has been the 93-7JRfm morning show host for the last 18 years and a broadcaster for the last 34 years. While she was born and raised in Saskatchewan, she spent a majority of her adult life in BC, living in Port Coquitlam for 14 years and the last 4 in Vancouver.

Karen is a, usually, proud mother to two sons – Tyler (an economist) and Brad (stay at home son, until he finally gets his degree in computer science), and a dog mom to a Frenchie pup named Roxy. She is a big supporter of anything that can't stand up for themselves; like animals, children, and seniors. She is also actively involved with the MS Society and the Food Bank with Basics for Babies.

She is a self-described bookworm and a lover of music, dining out, travelling, Netflix, award shows, and accessories. Although Karen is not a big drinker, she will rarely turn down a glass of red wine. As a self-educated, wine snob she knows the difference between a busy wine and a precocious one.
