April 2015 Program "Build the Future of Oakland" with Oakland-based OppSites

A panel discussion moderated by:
Sarah Filley, Vice President of Marketing, OppSites

Join us for a special April Economic Development Forum with a "Build the Future of Oakland" panel discussion focused on how the OppSites platform can be used as a tool for identifying and facilitating development opportunities in Oakland. OppSites aims to connect the regional marketplace of developers, investors, and brokers to underexposed opportunities in Oakland. The panel will explore how new technology helps investors to find new opportunities, reduce risk and save time, and find funding using the one-two punch of OppSites and Fundrise.

Hear from OppSites' CEO, Ian Ross, Fundrise's VP of Real Estate and Institutional Sales Tom Lockard, and OppSite's VP of Marketing, Sarah Filley as they discuss Oakland's opportunities and desire to attract investment that implements the community's goals.

This panel discussion is particularly targeted towards City officials, developers, real estate investors, brokers, and developers, as well as property owners, neighborhood associations, business improvement districts, business owners, and design and economic development professionals who want to contribute to Building the Future of Oakland.
