A WARM WELCOME, Neighbor!

What makes Georgetown County and South Carolina's Hammock Coast an unforgettable place to live? Attractive neighborhoods, inviting communities with history, and inspiring natural wonders are just a few of its exceptional features. Bordered by pristine beaches on the Atlantic Ocean, gently carved by black rivers and estuaries, and padded by rich marshland from the inlet to the sea, our home is an unsurpassed coastal destination to explore and enjoy.

Georgetown County's six communities are like members of a close family: while all share the county's alluring atmosphere, each community offers its own fun and exciting explorations and activities which shapes its distinct personality. Georgetown is known by its large historic district and centuries-old Southern charm. The small town of Andrews embraces a nostalgic atmosphere against a backdrop of stunning natural landscapes. Pawleys Island, arrogantly shabby in nature, is where you'll find one-of-a-kind shops and restaurants, championship golf courses and large beach homes. Go to Litchfield for its secluded white sand beaches. Murrells Inlet is home to legendary pirate tales and boasts that it offers the tastiest seafood on the East Coast. And Garden City, a beach community, has a dual personality, with one area in Georgetown County and the other in neighboring Horry County. Altogether, our communities offer residents a rich quality of life that earned us acclaim in the book The 50 Best Small Southern Towns by Gerald W. Sweitzer and Kathy M. Fields.

Not surprisingly, many people who visit some of Georgetown County's best resorts have extended their stay indefinitely, leading to the area quickly evolving from a highly desirable vacation destination into a place for families to call home.

When you've finally unpacked the last box and can put up your feet, use this guide to learn all there is to know about your new community. Welcome to Georgetown County and the Hammock Coast!

QUICK FACTS ABOUT

Georgetown County - SC's Hammock Coast

OUR COMMUNITIES

For many, a neighborhood is just as important as the dwelling they call home. Georgetown County has plenty of distinct areas for every kind of resident.

CITY OF GEORGETOWN (POPULATION 8,779)

Georgetown has the legends and landmarks befitting its standing as South Carolina's third oldest city. The area has heard Native American war drums, seen American colonists declare freedom from the British, and savored the harvest of rice fields.

First settled by the Spanish along the Sampit River in 1526, Georgetown is rich with nearly five centuries of history and cultural heritage. Founding Fathers with ties to Georgetown include Thomas Lynch, Jr. (a signer of the Declaration of Independence), General George Washington and the Marquis de Lafayette.

Rice and indigo were the major cash crops in South Carolina in the 1800s, and Georgetown produced more than half of the nation's entire rice crop. You can still visit some of the plantation homes from that era.

Today, Georgetown enjoys an ideal balance of historical presence and progressive culture. A walk down the streets of the city will take you through a preserved historic district filled with quaint, singular shops and revitalized historical family homes, bed and breakfasts, and museums, open to the public.

Georgetown was rated
the #1 Best Coastal Small Town
by USA Today in 2018.

ANDREWS (POPULATION 2,852)

The town of Andrews is nearly 110 years old and, while small in size, has much to offer, including the perfect setting for encounters with nature along the Black River and many scenic trails. The town is known as the home of entertainer Chubby Checker who popularized the 1950s dance, "the Twist," and birthplace of legendary comedian Chris Rock.

Garden City

GARDEN CITY (EST. POPULATION 9,702)

Located at the north end of the Hammock Coast, Garden City, which straddles Georgetown and Horry counties, has the luxury of city amenities while still being secluded enough to enjoy starlit nights and sounds of crashing waves.

Ending on a peninsula at the mouth of Murrells Inlet, the area is a prime location for fishing and crabbing, while the inlet waters are ideal for paddle boarding, kayaking, canoeing, and other watersports. Miles of pristine beaches lined with the quintessential beach cottages await you here.

With a slower, breezier pace of life, the Garden City area has a certain therapeutic quality that will help you unwind and relax from the chaos of daily life. Coming home to Garden City is like being on vacation every day.

LITCHFIELD / PAWLEYS ISLAND (EST. POPULATION 15,150)

Litchfield Plantation, one of the major rice crop producers of the 18th and 19th centuries, inspired the area's name. Today, this segment of the Waccamaw Neck offers secluded beaches, beautiful golf courses, and awe-inspiring natural scenery.

The Town of Pawleys Island, population 107, is affectionately described as "arrogantly shabby." This beach retreat offers a charming blend of luxury and quaintness. It was the first resort town along the Atlantic, where wealthy antebellum plantation families built summer homes to enjoy the ocean breezes that alleviated the sultry heat found inland on the plantations.

Just north of the Town of Pawleys Island: Litchfield is a secluded haven on the Atlantic Ocean, close enough to enjoy the area's attractions, culture and entertainment.

Litchfield

Murrells Inlet Marshwalk

Unincorporated Pawleys Island, as well as Litchfield, includes a diverse array of people of all ages — young families to retirees. The area also is a popular destination for visitors who enjoy such activities as biking along the Waccamaw segment of the East Coast Greenway, playing golf at the four award-winning signature south end courses, splashing in the indoor and outdoor pools at Litchfield Beach & Golf Resort, or just watching the surf and building sand castles on the beach.

Some of the 18th and 19th century buildings that remain in Pawleys Island include the Calhoun-Lemon House, Liberty Lodge, and Summer Academy. Another historic structure, the Pelican Inn, is known as the home of Pawley's famous helping spirit, the Gray Man, who is said to appear in advance of hurricanes and other sea storms, giving warning to take shelter.

MURRELLS INLET (POPULATION 8,752)

Swashbuckling stories swirl around Murrells Inlet like cannon smoke from the pirate ships that once lurked in the surrounding bays.

GEORGETOWN COUNTY BY THE NUMBERS

Legend says Murrells Inlet was founded by Captain Murrell in the early 18th century. Pirates and freebooters used the narrow, winding channels to evade larger British Navy vessels. Nearly a century and a half later, blockade runners used the inlet's ability to conceal supplies for their Civil War units. The blockade runners were followed by rum smugglers in the early 1900s, who used winding inlet channels to bring in and stockpile bootleg liquor during Prohibition.

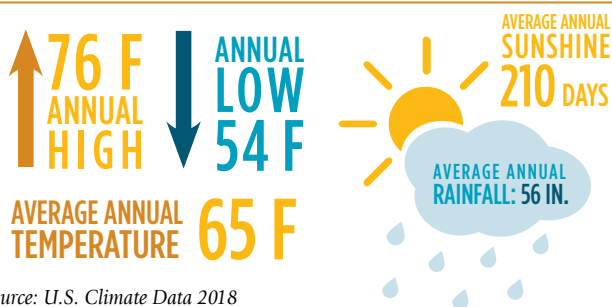

While the cool coastal waters no longer lend themselves to colorful pirate tales, this quaint fishing community still offers plenty of adventure. Outdoors, vast marsh surroundings and natural wonders invite exploration. Closer to home, Georgetown County's culinary adventures start in Murrells Inlet, known as the "Seafood Capital of South Carolina," where there are numerous places to dine on delicious, fresh-off-the-dock seafood along the Marshwalk.

CREATIVITY DEFINES GEORGETOWN COUNTY

TALENTED ARTISTS EXPLAIN WHY

Q and A

GRANT
"THE HAMMOCK MAN"

- Grew up in Bronx, NYC
- Georgetown resident for 29 years
- Weaver at the Original Hammock Shop

Q: What brought you to Georgetown County?

A: "I have family members that live down here. And I was stationed in the military down here. And then I learned this craft."

Q: What do you enjoy most about your craft?

A: "I get to talk to people from all around the world every day."

Q: How long have you been weaving?

A: "29 years. I did a year and a half at the main plant. This July the 5th will give me 27 years in this building (Original Hammock Shop)."

Q: Where is your favorite spot in Georgetown County?

A: "I like it in the country . . . Nice and quiet. You can relax."

Q: What do you like to do in your spare time?

A: "Playing chess. Playing sports with the kids."

Q: What would you like to tell someone that's new to the area?

A: "The area is nice. . . on Pawleys Island. Anytime it's raining in the area, I think they shut Myrtle Beach down and everybody comes here. That's how I feel about it."

VIDA MILLER
EXPERIMENTAL PAINTER

- Grew up in the mountains of River Falls, SC in northern Greenville County
- Georgetown resident for 45 years
- Owner, Gray Man Gallery

Q: What inspires you most about this area?

A: "The fabulous sunsets and sunrises over the water, whether it's the ocean, creek or river. The way the light changes every day creates a new perspective on our surroundings and is a constant reminder of how beautiful this area is."

Q: What do you enjoy most about living in this area?

A: "The people. The weather is great, but the many friendships made in the last four decades bring the most enjoyment."

Q: How does this area inspire your work?

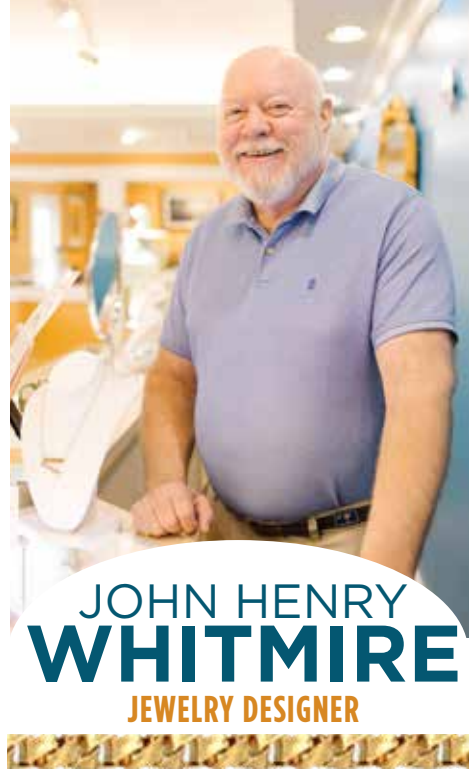

A: "The community has been so supportive of my art over the years and that support is inspiring. I like to paint images I enjoy looking at and hope that others enjoy looking at them as well. The creek is one of my favorite things to paint, as I am fascinated by the way it changes with the seasons and the tide."

Q: How would you describe yourself as an artist?

A: "I think of myself as more of an experimental painter. I started out in watercolors 30 plus years ago before my political career and was a serious competitive painter. I enjoyed mixed media abstracts and was fortunate to win awards and to be accepted as a Member with Excellence into the SC Watercolor Society. Now, with more time to devote to art, I have enjoyed getting back into experimenting with a variety of mediums."

Q: What is your favorite spot in Georgetown County?

A: "Where I happen to be at the moment. It could be my back yard, enjoying a local restaurant or on the beach. There are too many great places to be in Georgetown County and each one is unique and enjoyable."

JOHN HENRY WHITMIRE
JEWELRY DESIGNER

- Grew up in Easley, SC
- Moved to Myrtle Beach at 18
- Pawleys Island resident
- Owner of Whitmire Fine Jewelry since 1972

Q: What was your entrance into jewelry design?

A: "My father gave me the opportunity to pay my own way through college. So, the company I was working with offered me $2 an hour in Easley or $2.25 if I worked at the beach. So, I moved to the beach. And when I was here, I met a jeweler and we got to be good friends. And he taught me the fundamentals of the jewelry business. I was going to school at the University of South Carolina in the fall and winter and spending the summers here. So, when I went back to school . . . I took the metal craft and design course. I was very intrigued with it and very successful."

Q: What type of jewelry do you design?

A: "I design lots of pieces. I have a line of jewelry called the Treasures of the Sea collection. It's sea shells, starfish, turtles, sea gulls and pelicans. Things you see on the beach when you're here on vacation. Like the Pawleys Island Shell — we have it in sterling silver, 14 and 18 karat gold. It makes a great piece of jewelry to take home with you. I also design engagement rings, diamond bracelets, diamond earrings and things of that nature. We do a lot of re-designs for people who have old jewelry and have stones they've inherited and do a modern update."

Q: What is your favorite spot in Georgetown County?

A: "Brookgreen Gardens. . . It's a national treasure. It's a wonderful place. . . to spend the day relaxing. And it's a very inspirational thing for artists. I love Brookgreen a whole lot."

Q: What would you tell a new resident or business prospect about Georgetown County?

A: "It is a wonderful place to live. We have an abundance of . . . wildlife and natural beauty that surrounds us. We have a group of wonderful people here. It's a friendly, helpful, nurturing place to go to work."

TURNER
CANDLE MAKER

- Grew up in Bandy, VA
- Bought a vacation home on Pawleys Island 20 years ago
- Moved here full time 2 years ago
- Creator of WISH Candle

Q: What inspired you to open WISH? What sparked the idea?

A: "Candle making was my hobby... years ago. After my husband passed away, I was up in the middle of the night one night making candles. And I thought about trying to create a message in a candle. At that moment the idea came to me that I should create a candle that would hold a handwritten letter or message... I've always had a passion for making wishes. And when I decided I was going to start making the WISH candles, I decided I was going to make them out of 100% pure beeswax... it's a wax that cleanses the air and sparks creativity."

Q: What is the next step for WISH Candle?

A: "I'm in the process of looking for other creative people and artists... I feel like we are at such a crossroads. Our daily lives have been taken over by technology, and the more we communicate on a technical level the less we communicate with each other. My mission is to bring people together to communicate not only through the handwritten word, but through the things they make with their hands and create."

Q: What would you like a new resident or business prospect to know about Georgetown County?

A: "My mission this year is to find other people in the Georgetown area who also have a passion for making things, and to have them come into the shop and share what they're making. We have a bulletin board where we like to put up information about other artists. So, we can share their stories with people who come in."

BOND
PHOTOGRAPHER

- Grew up in Conway, SC
- Murrells Inlet resident
- Austin Bond, Photography

Q: What was your entrance into photography?

A: "I lived at the parsonage on Belin's campus when we moved here. The sanctuary is positioned right next to Murrells Inlet. When you walk out the front door of the sanctuary you've got this glorious view of the inlet. And there's a large cross... I was just blown away by how beautiful things were down here. I would take pictures... put them on my personal Facebook... and I got a lot of response from that. People would sometimes ask me if they could buy my photos. When I started getting questions like that, I thought, well maybe there's something more to this."

Q: What is your favorite spot in Georgetown County?

A: "I do love Huntington Beach State Park, from the beach to the causeway, which has an incredible view of the inlet, and all the different types of wildlife that are there. From the alligators to so many different bird species, to seeing the blue crabs in the water, it is an incredible place. I love walking or riding my bike on the beach to the jetties... That whole area is so gorgeous and I'm just so thankful for the Huntington family who provided this land... It's in its natural state. One of my favorite things to see fly by is of course the bald eagles that live there. It's such an incredible moment when you see one soar past. They're just so huge and beautiful."

Q: What would you tell a new resident or business prospect about Georgetown County?

A: "There are just so many hidden secrets. I've lived here eight years and I still discover things each week that just blow me away. And then you've got the obvious things... like how valuable the Murrells Inlet MarshWalk is as far as great restaurants. A great place for tourists and locals."

M.P. "SQUEAKY" SWENSON
CONTEMPORARY LANDSCAPE PAINTER

- Grew up in Hell Hole Swamp in the Frances Marion National Forest in Berkeley County
- Publisher of the Coastal Observer
- Majored in English at Clemson University
- Moved to Georgetown County after college

Q: What do you enjoy most about living in this area?

A: "Well, I have to tell you, I've traveled a lot, and I feel like the coast of South Carolina is probably one of the most beautiful places in the world. And that's what I love about living here. It's the only place on the East Coast where a river runs parallel with the ocean. To me you have the best of all worlds here. You've got the ocean. You've got the marsh. And you've got the river."

Q: How does this area inspire your work?

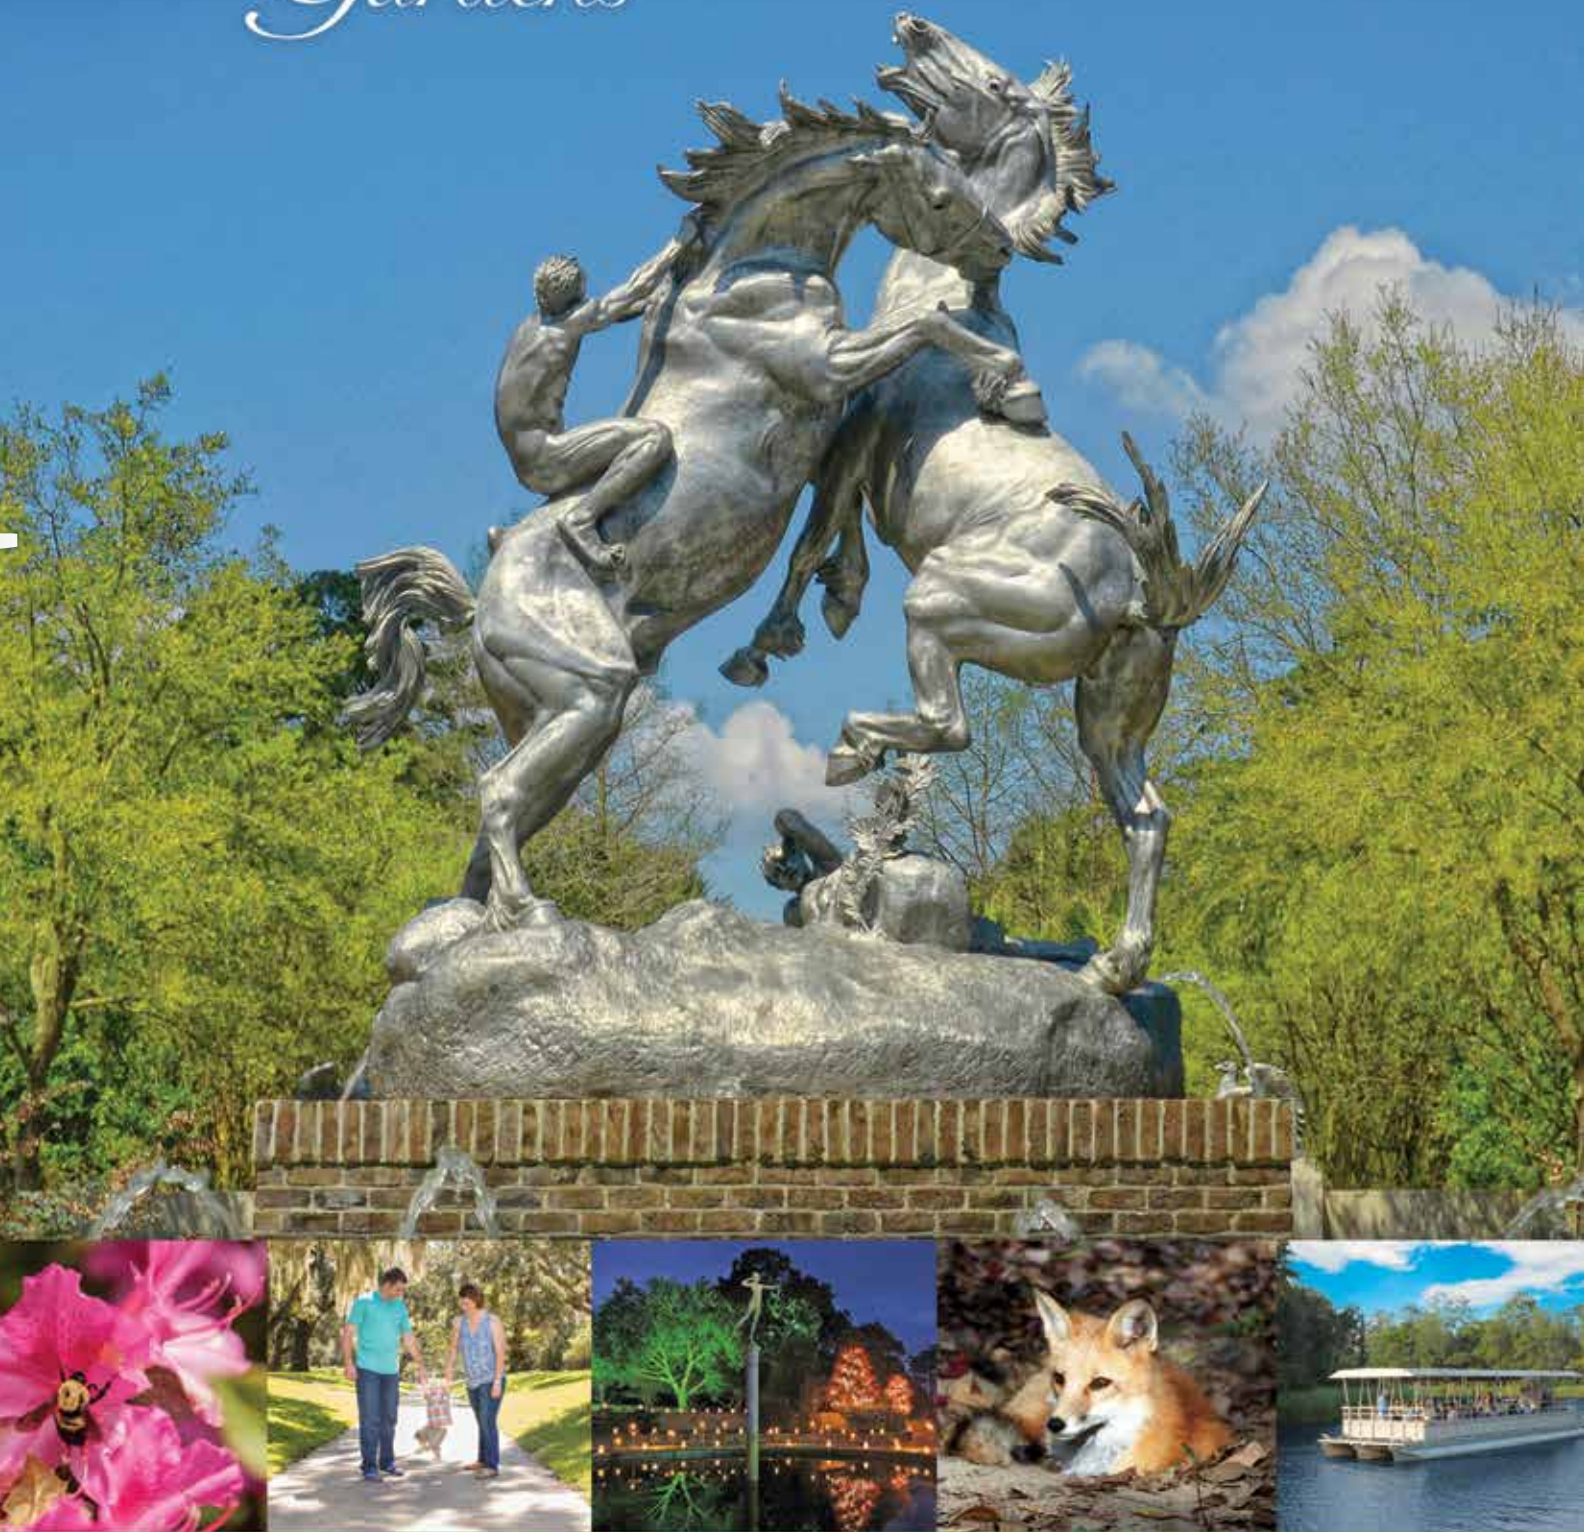

A: "When I was an English major, I wrote a lot of poetry. And I continued to write poetry as I got older. But I realized that... you can convey a message a lot quicker visually than you can with the written word. So, I try... for my paintings to be visual poetry... I like to communicate feelings and emotions. That's very important to me. Water is an important symbol in my work. It shows up all the time. And I think that's because I'm so influenced by my proximity to water. I mean, I grew up on the water. I grew up on the Santee River. And some of my most wonderful memories are out fishing with my Daddy on that river, into the edges of Winyah Bay and the Santee Delta. All of that has influenced who I am and my art."

Q: What is your favorite spot in Georgetown County?

A: "About five years ago, I moved into doing these landscapes. I just wanted to do them. And I think that was because every day I walk down to the Waccamaw River... and look over this bluff that looks over the river. It's just... I can't get it out of my head. It just keeps popping up. That view of looking down on the river and the marshland."

ART, THEATER AND HISTORY

Elevate Our Day-to-Day Living

Georgetown County has been a location for cultural refinement since Colonial days. No doubt our breathtaking natural surroundings and exciting history breathe a certain element of inspiration into the works created by our talented local artists. These works are displayed or performed in our many art galleries, festivals, theatres, and music and cultural centers. Discover how Georgetown can inspire you.

Make a trip to Brookgreen Gardens, the crowning glory of the Hammock Coast arts scene, America's first public sculpture garden and a National Historic Landmark. Founded in 1931 by Archer and Anna Hyatt Huntington, the landscaped spaces and the collection of sculpture on display create an amazing synthesis of art and horticulture. More than 2,000 works by more than 450 sculptors make Brookgreen Gardens' collection the largest and most comprehensive outdoor display of American figurative sculpture in the world, featuring works from the early 19th century to the present.

Also on the grounds of Brookgreen, the Lowcountry History and Wildlife Preserve focuses on the history of the rice plantations of the 1800s and the Gullah culture. It is also home to the Lowcountry Zoo, a fully accredited zoo by the Association of Zoos and Aquariums. The zoo features animals native to the South Carolina Coast.

The Hobcaw Barony Discovery Center provides information on the preserve, including a 1,200-gallon aquarium and marsh midden, pine and cypress ecosystem exhibits, and information on the property's history and research.

Visitors may explore this extraordinary place through daily programs, by walking the Lowcountry Trail and traveling by pontoon boat deep into the preserve.

People throughout the state and beyond look forward to the annual Pawleys Island Festival of Music & Art (PIFMA). PIFMA celebrates its 29th year in 2019 over a three-week period, October 3-19, at The Reserve Golf Course. The festival features music from jazz to Motown, blues, pop, classical and much more. The arts community in Georgetown County rallies around this event, planning concurrent presentations of visual and theatrical arts in addition to the music showcase. Each year PIFMA promises to bring beautiful music and has become one of the Hammock Coast's signature events.

You don't have to wait for PIFMA in October to get your culture fix, though. The Swamp Fox Players has become an integral part of the cultural life of Georgetown County, producing four live theatrical productions each season at the historic Strand Cinema. The Strand Cinema offers award-winning films on Friday and Saturday as well.

History & Museums Reflections of Time, Past and Present

Get an overview of Georgetown County's past at the Georgetown County Museum, then delve into the various cultures that made the area what it is today. Founded in 1729, Georgetown is South Carolina's third oldest city and has plenty of history to explore. The Georgetown County Museum preserves and displays artifacts spanning nearly 300 years. Exhibits include Native American artifacts of the Pee Dee, Sampit and Waccamaw tribes, relics and tools of the area's rice and indigo plantation culture, and showcase items such as a letter written by Revolutionary War

Hobcaw Barony

Gen. Francis Marion (The Swamp Fox). The collection includes bills of sale related to slave trade days that the Antiques Roadshow found to be priceless.

African-Americans made significant contributions to Georgetown County's history from the beginning, including protection of the colony from 1670 through the American Revolution, and later introducing and developing the cattle, indigo, and rice culture of the plantation era. They also contributed to the introduction of public education in South Carolina. The Gullah Museum explores this Gullah-Geechee culture, handed down from the African-American enslaved people to their descendants who live in the area today. The Gullah-Geechee culture is evident in the area's spicy cuisine, colorful art, and the rhythmic dialect spoken among the descendants.

More examples of Georgetown County's plantation life are exhibited at Hobcaw Barony, Hopsewee Plantation, and the Rice Museum. Reserve your space on a two-hour tour of Hobcaw Barony to experience the property and Hobcaw House where Winston Churchill, Franklin Roosevelt and other leaders of the 20th century stayed. Hobcaw Barony is also the site of the only fully intact former slave village on the Waccamaw Neck, as well as the stables and grounds of Bellefield Plantation.

Today, Hobcaw Barony is a 16,000-acre wildlife preserve internationally known for research, education and conservation. Experience the unique ecology programs at the beach, marsh and forest. The Hobcaw Barony Discovery Center provides information on the preserve, including a 1,200-gallon aquarium and marsh midden, pine and cypress

Annual Plantation Tours

Indigo and rice planters of the 18th and 19th centuries made Georgetown County the wealthiest county in the entire United States, the epitome of genteel Southern society prior to the Civil War. Dozens of elegant plantation homes and gardens left by these elite families surround the town along our five rivers, and many of the homes built by them in the downtown historic district remain beautifully preserved.

Every spring, the women from the Parish of Prince George Winyah host the Prince George Plantation and Town House Tours. Visitors tour the homes and grounds, many of which are on the National Register of Historical Places. Visitors are also invited to the popular Plantation Tours Tea, hosted by the the women from the Parish of Prince George Winyah at the historic Winyah Indigo Society Hall. For ticket information, visit www.princegeorgeplantationtours.com.

The antebellum plantation culture also produced a rich heritage among the descendants of the enslaved people of this area known as Gullah. We take pride in the rich Gullah culture that is still with us today and acknowledge their significant role in building the county's antebellum economy.

Pawleys Island Festival of Music & Art ecosystem exhibits, and information on the property's history and research. Public access to the historic sites and property is available only through guided tours and programs (fee) while admission to the Discovery Center is free. Reservations are required for touring the property and can be made online.

Tour Hopsewee Plantation, one of the area's grand indigo and rice plantations that prospered during the 18th and 19th centuries, and take in the history of the patriots and planters of Hopsewee. Thomas Lynch, Jr., South Carolina signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born here. Double your pleasure with reservations for a great lunch with Lowcountry favorites, including a delightful assortment of savories, scones and sweets, and of course, Southern sweet iced tea! The beautiful moss-draped oaks provide the perfect setting for weddings and events of all kinds at Hopsewee Plantation.

At one time, Georgetown County plantations produced more than half the rice crop of the entire United States. The Rice Museum explores the history of the rice culture through artifacts, maps, dioramas, and other exhibits. Find keepsakes at the Prevost Gallery and gift shop.

Just up the street from the Rice Museum, in-town living is on display at the Kaminski House Museum, an excursion for history buffs in search of Southern architecture and English and American antiques. Circa 1769, the Kaminski House sits majestically on the banks of the Sampit River. Originally built by a wealthy merchant for his daughter, the house through the years has had 13 owners, including three mayors of Georgetown. The home's pre-Revolutionary War details are an elegant backdrop to the varied interiors that help bring Harold and Julia Pyatt Kaminski, the home's last residents, to life.

The lawn of the Kaminski House Museum is a popular venue for weddings and social events that feature Southern-style charm and tradition. The Made in the Shade Concert Series brings performances of the Long Bay Symphony Youth Orchestra and an annual Fourth of July celebration with the Indigo Choral Society to the lawn of the Kaminski House Museum. Other popular programming includes Jazz Under the Oaks, Family Fun Day, and summer educational camps for local youth.

Christmas comes early to the Kaminski House each season as home decor specialists dress the house in holiday glitz! The season includes candlelight tours, Family Night with rides on the Candy Cane Express (decorated tour-tram) and a lighting on the lawn party where participants raise a festive toast.

The Museum's gift shop, Julia's Past & Presents, is stocked with an interesting array of gifts, jewelry, and decorative home accents. The shop also offers a selection of coastal gifts and books.

More of Georgetown County's early years are on view at Prince George Winyah Church, named for Prince George who became King George II of England. The church has been used continuously for worship services since 1747. Prince George Winyah conducts services on Sunday mornings at 8, 9, and 11 a.m. with Healing Service at 10 a.m. each Thursday. The church is open for guided tours Mon.-Fri. noon-3 p.m. from March through October. A year-long celebration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Prince George, Winyah parish will take place in 2021.

Nothing has influenced the life and culture of Georgetown County more than the sea. To preserve and promote the maritime history of Georgetown and South Carolina, the Harbor

Historical Association opened the doors of the South Carolina Maritime Museum in 2011. The glittering fifth order Fresnel lens from the Georgetown Lighthouse is one of the museum's showpieces, along with a collection of wooden ship models and photographic exhibits. In 2018, the museum expanded its collection upstairs to showcase artifacts from shipwrecks off the coast of South Carolina. Admission is free.

SHOPPING & DINING

whether it's for great home or apparel fashions, local artifacts, succulent seafood, or five-star dining... is a fulltime, year-round pastime in our colorful county. Whether you are visiting for a few days, setting up house, or your family has lived here for generations, Georgetown County's menu of shops and restaurants, boutiques and bistros appeal to everyone.

Ready to do some serious shopping? Stroll through The Hammock Shops in Pawleys Island to discover one-of-a-kind boutiques set amidst beautiful scenery. Soak in the charming history and shopping treasures while you walk along the historic streets in downtown Georgetown. Georgetown County has it all, from local hand-made gifts to designer apparel, all within reach and within your shopping budget.

Loving the Hammock Coast lifestyle? Then you'll notice that many of our individual small retailers do as well, since they specialize in depicting the coastal lifestyle through the merchandise on their shelves.

You'll find the same appreciation of coastal life on the plates served by our local restaurateurs. Dine locally with our delicious diversity of flavors that will leave your taste buds tingling and satisfied.

In the mood for seafood? Good! You've come to the right place. In the quaint fishing community of Murrells Inlet, known as the "Seafood Capital of South Carolina," the term "fresh catch" is exactly that. Here, you can trust that what you're eating was swimming just hours before local fishermen delivered it to your plate. And while Murrells Inlet bears the title, the seafood capital encompasses all of Georgetown County, from Pawleys Island to the Georgetown Harborwalk and beyond.

Southern cuisine is also a favorite in Georgetown County. Savor fried chicken and Carolina barbecue at any number of local restaurants. Also enjoy the local Tideland cuisine, which is a traditional mélange of Native American, European, African, and Creole spice and technique, in such local specialties as gumbo, and shrimp and grits. One taste of any of our local flavor and you'll realize our chefs are an attraction of their own merit.

The ambience in many of our restaurants is as much a part of your dining pleasure as is the food. Whether you are relaxing waterfront in Murrells Inlet or in a quaint café in Georgetown, your dining experience is sure to be both mouthwatering and memorable!

Destination Seaside

Wedding Venues to Match Your Vision

By Bonnie Hunter

A Hammock Coast wedding can feel like a destination event, even for Georgetown County residents.

Inspiring settings, endless venue options, local event experts and regional culture provide the magical combination of unique opportunities and authentic ambiance. From historical churches and houses, to fabulous museums and clubs, no matter a couple's vision, budget or background, special spots for sharing vows and celebrating love are waiting to be discovered.

The first sight that comes to mind for a wedding by the sea is the beach. And while the beach is a wonderful choice for smaller groups (there are restrictions on party size and other beach visitors to consider), there are many locations that shout "seaside celebration."

Consider the options that will match your venue with your vision, such as the Kaminski House Museum, Winyah Indigo Society Hall, South Carolina Maritime Museum, or Pawleys Plantation. The Caledonia Golf & Fish Club, Litchfield Country Club, Litchfield Plantation, Mansfield Plantation, Reserve Harbor Yacht Club, Wachesa Plantation Club and Wedgefield Plantation are ideal locales for riverside ceremonies. Ceremonies can be held under a veil of Spanish moss, and receptions are draped in Southern charm and tradition.

Brookgreen Gardens is an elegant setting for any wedding, whether in the Holiday

Cottage, the Lowcountry Center, the Pavilion restaurant or outdoors in the magnificent Huntington Sculpture Garden.

Many venues have experienced event coordinators, caterers and staff who can assist in the planning and execution of weddings, receptions, bridal showers and rehearsal dinners. For brides looking for major wedding planning backup, regional and local wedding planning professionals have the knowledge, connections and insight to ease the process and handle the details.

Georgetown County has many lovely churches, historic homes, and restaurants where weddings, receptions and rehearsal dinners may be scheduled.

One of the best things about gathering guests around this beautiful area is that down time is simply filled by the breathtaking surroundings. Taking a boat ride gives locals and visitors an unbelievable vantage point for enjoying the gifts of Georgetown County. Cap 'n Rod's Boat Tours offers private charters and will take your crew along areas of South Carolina's untouched coast. Couples can thank attendees with a bona fide Hammock Coast experience, such as exploring the beach of a pristine barrier island, floating by historical plantations or taking a sunset voyage.

The Georgetown County Chamber is a great resource for planning your special day. Use the business directory on page 49 or at www.visitgeorge.com to connect to venues, event planners, caterers, florists, rental companies, lodgings, officiants and any other supplier you may need.

The main thing to remember, whether you say "I do" on the mainland, on an inlet or on an island, is that a wedding is a celebration of life, love and their many gifts. It doesn't matter if you are staying home, coming home or leaving home for your big day, a ceremony by the sea is a next-level celebration. You don't have to get married on the beach to make memories and take photos in the sand.

THE LEGAL STUFF

Applying for a marriage license at the Georgetown County Probate Court can be simple. Though South Carolina's law requires a 24-hour waiting period before the issuance of a marriage license, all paperwork will be properly completed and recorded.

Couples can apply together, in person at the Probate Court. The fee is approximately $40 [cash, check or money order] and if applicants are between the ages of 18 and 24, a copy of one of the following is needed for both the bride and groom: driver's license, military I.D. card, Selective Service I.D. card, valid passport or visa, or certified copy of a birth certificate.

Only one person is needed to pick up the official marriage license prior to the wedding, which must be held in South Carolina. If under 18 years of age, please contact the court for additional information.

Outdoor Fun

Soak Up the Sea, Sun & Salt on the Hammock Coast

Taste the salty spray of the deep, aqua waters of the Atlantic Ocean when you boat, fish, and ride watercraft. Inhale deeply the fresh air enveloping one of our state parks or wildlife refuges, or by simply walking along a secluded beach at sunset. Or tee off as the morning mist rises on one of the area's lush greens at our award-winning golf courses. When you come to Georgetown County, you will find a paradise for outdoor enthusiasts.

Sun, surf and sand are Georgetown County's trademark amenities for water-lovers. Bordered by the Atlantic Ocean and home to five rivers – the Waccamaw, Black, Pee Dee, Santee, and Sampit – which wind through the area, there is plenty of opportunity for a vast array of watersports, including shore surfing and kite boarding. This undoubtedly led National Geographic magazine to name the area one of its top ten U.S. "Adrenaline Outposts." Paddle your kayak or canoe through the area's rivers and inlets to catch glimpses of wildlife and scenic vistas. Get out and enjoy this coastal gem, because Georgetown County is a top ecotourism destination.

A pristine Hammock Coast beach and elegant Atalaya, the National Historic Landmark winter home of Archer and Anna Hyatt Huntington, make Huntington Beach State Park one of South Carolina's most recognizable landmarks. Relax with a sea breeze off the Atlantic Ocean while camping, enjoy some of the finest surf fishing South Carolina has to offer and experience some of the top bird-watching on the East Coast.

Georgetown County has the waterways and all the equipment you need to spend a day out on the boat and the Georgetown County Parks and Recreation Division maintains many public boat landings. For a list of marinas that support the Georgetown County Chamber of Commerce, go to www.visitgeorge.com to view the Chamber's online membership directory.

Not an aquaphile? Then perhaps one of Georgetown County's other great outdoor pastimes will appeal. As part of "The Seaside Golf Capital of the World," Georgetown County golf courses offer a breathtaking blend of lush, manicured lawns with coastal wetlands, majestic oaks and the Lowcountry surroundings. Many of these championship courses are built on historic rice plantations, giving each its own historical character and incredible natural beauty. For a list of golf courses that support the Georgetown County Chamber of Commerce, go to www.visitgeorge.com to view the Chamber's online membership directory.

With all there is to do outdoors in Georgetown County, it's easy to get and keep fit, whether you're here for a week or a lifetime!

PARKS & RECREATION

So much of our area's outdoor pursuits are facilitated by the efforts of the Georgetown County Parks and Recreation Department. GTC Parks manages and maintains more than 300 parks and facilities across 814 square miles of land area. This includes 77 athletic fields that feature five tournament level facilities, 26 playgrounds, 31 tennis courts, 30 picnic shelters, 31 basketball courts, 12 community/senior centers and five recreation centers.

The Beck Recreation Center at 2030 Church St. in Georgetown offers cardio and weight rooms with men and women's lockers, a full court gymnasium with a climbing wall and aerobics room. The Waccamaw Regional Recreation Center and Choppee Recreation Center at the Northwest Regional Park offer both cardio and weight rooms, rental spaces for events and programs, and host programs and activities for all ages. Additionally, the new Andrews Recreation Center, which will have similar offerings to the Waccamaw and Choppee Recreation Centers, is scheduled to open in the fall of 2019.

The Murrells Inlet Community Center includes a large multipurpose room with a permanent stage and theatre seating, three meeting spaces and a catering kitchen. The Howard Center offers an 863-seat auditorium with stage, new lighting and sound systems, and dressing rooms, not to mention a large multipurpose space, a catering kitchen, a full court gymnasium and a variety of smaller rooms.

The Department also provides access to 27 boat landings, a 2,800-foot fishing and observation pier, and 68 beach access areas from Garden City to Litchfield. The Carroll Ashmore Campbell Marine Complex features six lanes for launching boats, 200 paved parking spaces, permanent restrooms, and a 3,500 square-foot events stage that overlooks the Sampit River.

GTC Parks offers more than 450 recreation events annually, including children's programs, senior services, instructional programs, cultural and performing arts, youth sports leagues, specialty camps and clinics, and special events.

Not certain on buying a home yet? Explore rental options ranging from studio apartments to multi-bedroom homes. You'll find that the average rental cost in the area is $889, (source: BestPlaces.net) which is better than $200 less than the national average.

Many of the single-family homes in the area exhibit the features of classic coastal architecture: large windows, spacious porches, large overhangs, high ceilings and raised first floors to allow gentle coastal breezes to flow through.

Those who are age 55 and older may especially want to check out the area's various lifestyle communities that offer low-maintenance ranch homes with clubhouses, pools and other amenities.

Whether you settle into the sleepy fishing village of Murrells Inlet, within walking distance of Georgetown's Historic District, on a mini-farm outside Andrews, or in a "shabby chic" cottage on Pawleys Island, your choice of home will help plant your roots right here in Georgetown County.

Explore the beautiful marshlands, beachfronts or rivers, or stroll through Georgetown County's quaint communities.
No matter where you choose to lay your head at night, you can't beat the rhythm of the Hammock Coast.

Georgetown Cares

INCLUSIVE, INSPIRATIONAL, MOTIVATIONAL

By Bonnie Hunter

With more than 70 local nonprofits, it's easy to see the Georgetown community has its heart in the right place. Here is a look at few of these amazing organizations and how they contribute to the greater good.

The Bunnelle Foundation

A Local Philanthropy Institution

The mission of the Frances P. Bunnelle Foundation is based on the values of the late Mrs. Frances Bunnelle, who established the Foundation in 2000, just prior to her death. Her trustees took on her mission – to improve the quality of life for Georgetown County residents – and over the past two decades the Foundation has distributed more than $26 million to worthwhile charitable causes throughout the county through grants, partnerships and initiatives.

The Foundation launched the Education to Career (E2C) initiative in 2016, which strives to motivate and prepare Georgetown County's youth for entering the workforce. E2C is a strategy to help participants develop the character, competencies, creativity and motivation required for traditional and new-economy jobs. Several projects under this initiative include the Pathways 2 Possibilities (P2P) Career Expo, an internship program in partnership with Coastal Carolina University, a Technical Scholars program in partnership with Horry-Georgetown Technical College, and the Bunnelle Youth Board, which introduces high school students to philanthropy and the responsibility that accompanies it. These projects are meant to cultivate opportunity for the county's youth and nourish the area's economy.

Saint Francis Animal Center

- Provides a safe and nurturing environment for abandoned and mistreated dogs and cats until they can be placed in loving homes.
- In 2017 and 2018, Saint Francis Animal Center cared for more than 2,000 animals each year.
- Raises awareness through public education, community outreach and a wellness clinic.

Tara Hall Home for Boys

- Long-term residential school for neglected, troubled and abused boys – ages 6 years and up – growing up in the state of South Carolina without a supportive or safe home environment.
- Instills hope in their boys through a combination of care, structure, education and mind-broadening experiences.
- Has a dedicated Family Services Coordinator who works closely with each family through home visits, on-campus family workshops and ongoing communication.

Friendship Place

Understanding the True Meaning of Community

Focused on the needs of each client, Friendship Place is a Christian organization that has worked with Georgetown County residents for more than 14 years. Grass-roots and focused on serving the needs of citizens who are facing instability, Friendship Place provides shelter to the homeless and food to the hungry. The staff also assists people in a fight against poverty.

One of the programs offered, Georgetown Eats, provides hot lunches Monday through Friday to anyone who is facing food insecurities. Volunteers prepare and serve a nutritious and cost-effective lunch on "real" plates. Friendship Place is committed to running a safe, eco- and health-conscience facility.

Another Friendship Place program is Georgetown Works. Area businesses partner with the nonprofit to offer job training and placement. Each client has specific needs, and Georgetown Works recognizes what is blocking the individual from maintaining employment and offers customized support through available resources.

The Friendship Place vision "is that all people should have the opportunity to move from crisis to self-sufficiency." By paying attention to the unique circumstances of each client, the strategy goes beyond giving a handout. Friendship Place believes the citizen deserves a hand up.

Tour de Plantersville

Each spring folks pump up their bicycle tires, tighten their helmet straps and take advantage of a fantastic opportunity to give back and get moving on the Tour de Plantersville. This inspirational “discovery” bicycle ride unites the Georgetown community, expands knowledge of the area’s history and exposes riders to parts of the county they may not have visited before.

“This is a phenomenal opportunity for people from outside of the area to come to Georgetown County and really experience a different side to what they’ve seen,” said Nanci Conley, COO of The Village Group. “When you come to the beach, you see one part. But this is a whole other beautiful part...the views from the vistas along the river are breathtaking. It brings a wonderful sense of peace.”

Cyclists have three ride options, ranging from 10 to 40 miles. Each ride is a chance to enjoy Plantersville and its scenic beauty.

Those who don’t go on a ride can still enjoy the festival, which takes place in the county park behind Plantersville Elementary. The Park serves as the start and end points of each ride. The festival area features live music, a children’s area, refreshments for purchase and a Gullah Geechee Chamber of Commerce Vendor Village. This event is designed to bring folks together, promote positive vibes and broaden the understanding of community.

The Tour de Plantersville was created by The Village Group, a nonprofit youth-focused organization led by Founder and CEO Ray Funnye. “The Tour de Plantersville...grew out of The Village Flyers Bike Club, which is a program...where the focus is getting our youth out and about,” Conley said. “And really, it’s twofold just like the Tour de Plantersville. We want people to get out and explore the absolutely stunning area we have with so many historical sites in Plantersville. The scenery is beyond belief.

The other main focus is health.”

For more than a decade, The Village Group has supported and encouraged the growth and progress of Georgetown County’s youth. The strength and impact of this group is fueled by unprecedented cooperation and collaboration of community members, agencies and organizations. The Tour de Plantersville echoes that winning combination in its structure, intent and reach.

Community members and visitors invest in their health, their family and the future through this one-of-a-kind cycling experience. Dr. Gerald E. Harmen, the Tour de Plantersville Honorary Chairman for 2018 and 2019, endorses the ride, reminding potential participants that: “Good health is a lifestyle that we must instill in our children who will be the future leaders of this great state and nation.”

SOLID ACADEMICS

Fill the Workforce Pipeline

Georgetown County educators know that today's student must be able to compete on a global level. The key to future success is education, so they provide forward-thinking programs that help our students succeed in today's global economy.

From pre-school to graduate studies, educators use the latest technology and online interactive programs, augmented with traditional teaching styles, to help prepare students for their chosen careers.

The Georgetown County School District has a mission to provide all students with world-class knowledge and skills that prepare them for citizenship in a diverse society. Georgetown County School District is a public school system that serves more than 9,500 students in pre-kindergarten through grade 12 in 19 schools, an adult education program and an optional school program. Every school has a distinct culture and its own approach to learning.

GCSD students participate in robotics, STEM Camp, career internships and competitions, and All State fine arts to name a few of the extracurricular experiences. Project Lead the Way is a reality in our elementary, middle and high schools, offering pathways in computer science, engineering and biomedical science.

With the educational opportunities offered here, parents can be assured their children will develop a thirst for knowledge and the skills to apply it throughout their adult lives.

Additional opportunities through virtual learning are offered in more than 950 courses for our high school learners. These included career classes, core honors classes and advanced placement studies. These rigorous courses add depth to GCSD's program, allowing students to experience distance learning before attending college.

Graduates of GCSD do not have to go far from home to earn a college degree, either. Within the county's footprint is a nationally ranked university, a comprehensive technical community college, and private, career-focused post-secondary schools.

Coastal Carolina University, a comprehensive, public, liberal arts institution with a main campus in Conway, serves Georgetown County through the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at the Litchfield Education Center, and an Education Center at 909 Front Street in Georgetown which focuses on the estuarine environment of Winyah Bay. The Georgetown location acts as an educational outreach center, and provides a home for two of the university's research vessels.

Accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC), the University offers baccalaureate degrees in 73 major fields of study. Among CCU's graduate-level programs are 25 master's degrees, two educational specialist degrees and two doctoral programs, the Ph.D. in marine science: coastal and marine systems science, and the Ph.D. in education.

More than 10,600 students from across the country and around the world interact with a world-class faculty at CCU, and enjoy a nationally competitive NCAA I athletic program, an inspiring cultural calendar and a tradition of community interaction fueled by more than 160 student clubs and organizations.

For those looking for a fast track into a career field, Horry-Georgetown Technical College offers more than 65 associate degree, diploma and certificate programs in a variety of career and academic fields, many of which will transfer completely or in part to four-year colleges and universities. This comprehensive technical community college has an annual curriculum enrollment of more than 10,000 students, and also provides customized training and personal interest classes for thousands of area residents every year through workforce development and continuing education programs.

HGTC's three convenient campuses in Georgetown, Conway and Myrtle Beach

provide easy access to higher education. Year-round admissions means students can apply and enroll in classes in fall, spring or summer and even take advantage of flexible online programs and classes. The Georgetown campus specializes in forestry and wildlife programs, medical training and advanced manufacturing.

Private higher education opportunities are available locally at Miller-Motte Technical College and at the Pittsburgh Institute of Aeronautics. Miller-Motte Technical College has been a reputable leader in private career education for more than 75 years. The staff at Miller-Motte Conway is dedicated to student success through hands-on education and career training, ensuring that students are prepared to enter a career immediately following graduation. The Conway site offers administrative offices, computer and medical labs, classrooms, a learning resource center, and student lounge.

The Pittsburgh Institute of Aeronautics (PIA) Myrtle Beach Campus is an industry-renowned aviation maintenance school in the Market Commons area, just minutes from Georgetown County. PIA offers a 16-month course in aviation maintenance technology and trains students for the Federal Aviation Administration's Airframe and Powerplant (A&P) certification. The school was founded by aviation pioneers Orville Wright and Glenn Curtiss in 1929, and has since opened four campuses on the East Coast.

Students at PIA's Myrtle Beach Campus enjoy a 14:1 student to faculty ratio and the instructional staff uses industry experience to produce a nationally renowned, hands-on education. PIA also provides one-on-one placement assistance services for students and alumni to reach their employment goals. PIA is often the first stop for employers looking for quality technicians. Many graduates of the Myrtle Beach campus have started aviation careers with companies such as Boeing, Piedmont Airlines, PSA Airlines, Haeco and Gulfstream.

PIA is a 2018 "military friendly" school, and the Myrtle Beach campus is eligible to accept veterans' benefits. PIA was also named #1 on Forbes list of Top Two Year Trade Schools.

Where Epic Tales & Sagas Come Alive

As a public library system with four locations, the Georgetown County Public Library also extends services countywide through regular visits of a modern, brightly-colored bookmobile emblazoned with coastal scenes. Children have access to special services to help instill in them a love of reading, and there are programs of interest to all county residents, of all ages.

Two local organizations, Friends of the Georgetown County and Friends of the Waccamaw Library, reflect the growth of the of the community's appreciation of the library services' value. To learn more about the county library, visit their Facebook page or website at <http://georgetowncountylibrary.sc.gov>. Tideland's Waccamaw Community Hospital

in Georgetown County

Georgetown County's healthcare services have expanded exponentially as the area's population has grown and advancing technology has opened more opportunities for various treatment alternatives. Patients are well cared for by outstanding hospitals, immediate care centers and health service offices with cutting-edge medical equipment, and experienced, compassionate physicians. Treating everything from the common cold to life-threatening ailments, our medical specialists are available for whatever emergency you may have.

Tideland's Health

With three hospitals and more than 50 outpatient locations that stretch from Andrews to North Myrtle Beach, Tideland's Health is the largest healthcare provider in Georgetown, Horry and Williamsburg counties. Every day, more than 2,000 employee and physician partners work side by side with patients to transform the health of our region and to help fulfill the health system's mission: We help people live better lives through better health.

A not-for-profit organization governed by a volunteer board of trustees, the health system is among the largest employers in Georgetown County and contributes more than $500 million annually to the region's economy, according to a study by Coastal Carolina University.

Tideland's Georgetown Memorial Hospital, where Tideland's Health began nearly 70 years ago, is an accredited chest pain center with a state-of-the-art cardiac catheterization lab. A new surgery pavilion that opened in 2018 is equipped with the latest technology to advance treatment and care. The pavilion, which is attached to the hospital, includes four operating suites and two additional rooms for endoscopy and other procedures.

Accredited by The Joint Commission, Tideland's Georgetown has received numerous recognitions for high-quality care including Joint Commission certification in joint replacement and spine surgery and as an advanced primary stroke center. Following Tideland's Waccamaw, Tideland's Georgetown was one of the first hospitals in the state to earn the prestigious Baby Friendly designation for providing optimal care for mothers and babies.

Tideland's Waccamaw Community Hospital in Murrells Inlet helps meet healthcare needs in one of the nation's fastest-growing areas. Also accredited by The Joint Commission, the hospital holds Joint Commission certification in childbirth, joint replacement and spine surgery and is an advanced primary stroke center.

Located inside Tideland's Waccamaw Community Hospital, Tideland's Health Rehabilitation Hospital, an affiliate of Encompass Health, is the region's first inpatient rehabilitation hospital. Tideland's Health Rehabilitation Hospital provides concentrated physical, occupational and speech therapy to help patients recover after a traumatic injury, major surgery or debilitating disease.

Other providers in the Tideland's Health family include:

- Tideland's Health Group, Tideland's Health's network of patient-centered primary and specialty care practices dedicated to keeping our community healthy.
- Tideland's Health Rehabilitation Services, with locations from Andrews to North Myrtle Beach, staffed by highly trained physical, occupational and speech therapists ready to provide therapy to adult and pediatric patients.
- Tideland's Francis B. Ford Cancer Treatment Center, located in Georgetown and operated in partnership with MUSC Health's Hollings Cancer Center, offering a broad continuum of cancer treatment services in one convenient location.

PRO-BUSINESS PERSPECTIVE

Propels Progress in Georgetown County

Georgetown County continues to benefit from the state's unparalleled pro-business environment. South Carolina was named the best in manufacturing industry health and global reach on the 2018 Manufacturing and Logistics Report Card, and earned high ratings as well in sector diversification. It is also rated a top state for doing business by Area Development Magazine and Chief Executive Magazine.

Georgetown County has a highly skilled labor force, a wealth of innovative entrepreneurs, and excellent educational opportunities. We also have one of the lowest corporate tax rates in the country and a plethora of economic incentives, including low labor costs and outstanding workforce development programs.

The state's rich network of transportation options offers Georgetown County's businesses easy access to deep sea ports, rail services, U.S.

highways, two local public use airports and two international airports within nominal driving distance. Located on the coast between Myrtle Beach and Charleston, these varied transportation options put global markets well within reach.

Georgetown County isn't your typical sleepy coastal county. Our commerce history reads more like a bustling industrialized port city, even during Colonial times. Back then, the county thrived as a coastal port for shipping rice and cotton; today, those exports are paper and metals.

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

Georgetown County maintains a diverse labor force of more than 16,000 county residents and an additional 22,000 area residents who commute into the area from surrounding counties. New and existing businesses are able to take advantage of many educational and skills training programs offered, including several top-rated universities and technical schools in the area, the Center for Accelerated Technology Training (CATT), readySC™, and SC Works centers.

CATT focuses on the training needs of new and existing businesses in South Carolina, including areas related to semiconductor technology, biotechnology, pharmaceutical technology, information technology, manufacturing technology and distribution technology.

Programs like readySC™ provide companies with the recruitment and training assistance they need to start in the area. With the help of the Waccamaw Regional Council of Governments, unemployed and underemployed locals find work, employers find matches among the qualified workforce that meet their needs, and full-service SC Works centers provide a variety of employment and training resources. TARGET INDUSTRIES

Our labor force and natural resources have been the driving forces behind ongoing economic prosperity. A varied selection of possible industry sites attracts the area's industrial economic development targets, and Georgetown County creates opportunities that leverage assets beneficial to residents and outside investors. Target industries include:

- Aviation & Aerospace – Georgetown County benefits from being only 36 miles south of Myrtle Beach International Airport and one hour north of Boeing's new facility in Charleston. Manufacturers that supply parts to support the aviation and aerospace industries will find Georgetown County to be a good fit.

- Metal Working & Advanced Materials – With more than 6,000 people in the Myrtle Beach MSA employed in advanced materials, chemicals and plastics, and metalworking industries, companies that locate in Georgetown County have access to a skilled workforce. Additionally, raw materials are easily shipped to the Port of Georgetown, South Carolina's dedicated break-bulk facility, ensuring a cost-effective supply of manufacturing materials.

- Wood Products – Georgetown County's forest lands, prime location, and skilled workforce have provided a strong base for the area's timber and wood-related products for almost 200 years.

THE BASICS

of Georgetown County

From the Southern charm of our inland towns to our coastal communities where everything moves on island time, we enjoy the laid-back life on the Hammock Coast. As our new neighbor, we would like to extend that same feeling to you. We've compiled a list of "numbers to know" to make your move just a little bit easier. All that's left for you to do, is to settle into your new home. Welcome to Georgetown County.
