The Germantown Community Library has been serving the Village of Germantown and surrounding areas since 1963. The library is part of the Monarch Library System that allows access to over 1.1 million items through daily delivery. Our staff aims to provide residents of all ages with material, information, resources, and services. Whether you are bringing your children to our weekly storytimes, listening to a digital audiobook on your commute to work, or using our Community Room for your next monthly meeting, the library works to provide a place in the community where members can learn, share, and grow. In 2018, the library saw an increase of 16.2% in overall circulation of material and growth in all areas of programs and services. New resources that we are able to provide free of charge with your library card include enhanced apps to access digital material (such as Libby and RB Digital), A to Z Databases for businesses, and online Gale Courses. Other initiatives include an expanded Early Literacy Area, additional adult programming to promote life-long learning and providing outreach services to community groups and educational institutions.
