

MARC ELLIOT

MOTIVATIONAL SPEAKER AND EXECUTIVE TRAINER

Since 2009, Marc Elliot has traveled throughout the U.S.—to schools, organizations and corporations—as a motivational speaker. He uses his twenty year journey of living with Tourette's, an "incurable involuntary neurological syndrome of tics" and has translated this story into a message of vision, courage and determination inspiring nearly one million people worldwide to take a new look at their lives. Drawing from innovations in emotional intelligence, mind & body techniques, and his decision to challenge everything he ever thought to be true, he has lived tic-free since 2013. Marc shares his message of tolerance, compassion and uncovering the will to change, opening the door to better relationships and expanded possibilities.