Aera Energy accounts for 25 percent of the state's oil production. The oil we produce allows millions of Californians to travel to work every day, businesses to grow and thrive, and California-grown food to arrive at dinner tables. We live in the communities where we work, which includes Kern, Ventura, Monterey and Fresno counties. Locally, we have operated safely and responsibly in the San Ardo field since 1952. We're proud to support local communities through jobs, partnerships and investments to build stronger neighborhoods and cities together.
