

Mike McNutt is the Public Affairs and Communications Manager at

Las Virgenes Municipal Water District. He graduated with a B.S. in Environmental Science and a B.A. in Communications from The Ohio State University. Mike has worked as a watershed manager for non-profits in Columbus and Cleveland before becoming a public information officer in emergency preparedness for Columbus Public Health. At the height of the recent drought, Mike decided to get back into the water field and made a move to California in 2014. He has spent time at the Palmdale Water District as the Director of Public Affairs and Sustainability and the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California as the Principal Public Affairs Representative in conservation before serving in his current role. In his non-professional life, Mike loves spending his time with his wife, hiking and playing music.
