County Commissioners – District 3

Brandt Cappell

How many years have you been in Chelan County?

5 years.

How many years have you served in public service?

10 years as a legislative assistant for the 12th legislative district (Chelan and Douglas counties), serving two local elected State Representatives.

What is your occupation?

Senior Legislative Assistant to Representative Keith Goehner.

What is your mission statement?

I look to bring my decade of experience in the state legislature closer to home to serve the citizens of Chelan County. I will be your voice at the county level advocating for your needs. Chelan County has been a great place to grow up and it is an honor to be part of the community. I want to work to ensure that we maintain this sense of community where our children would want to return to raise their own families.

Why should people vote for you?

I have the experience, passion, and dedication needed to be your voice on the commission. I grew up in small business and spent 6 years working a family cherry orchard. Agriculture and small businesses are our roots. We must balance this with the growth in tourism and recreation. We can maintain what makes Chelan County so special and have an economy that is diverse enough to withstand uncertainties and provide the jobs needed to keep us sustainable.

What is the most pressing issue in Chelan County?

Folks are worried about how we move forward given all the uncertainty in our economy. We know that stores can operate in a safe manner as demonstrated by the big chains being open throughout the shutdown. However, our neighbors and frankly some of the biggest supporters of our community are quickly disappearing. I will continue to advocate for an equitable reopening of our county with protocols in place to keep employees and customers safe.

Dale England

How many years have you been in Chelan County?
I was born and raised in Chelan County.

How many years have you served in public service?
I have been in public service for over 30+ years. I served with the Sheriff’s department, Kiwanis, and other community groups.

What is your occupation?
Orchardist, small business owner – Lake Chelan Helicopters.

What is your mission statement?
My mission statement would be to continue a lifetime of community service, agriculture and small business – coupled with working with the local tourists in a dedicated leadership role. The attributes I have developed in my private life will only enhance my role as a commissioner.

Why should people vote for you?
Voting for me will give you the needed experience to help balance the quality of life with the expected growth. My background brings generations of community involvement and local culture. I can make good sound decisions based on years of “hard knock” experience.

What is the most pressing issue in Chelan County?
If you would have asked me 6 months ago, I would have said budgets and balancing agriculture, tourism, and quality of life. As of today, those are still very important but the ability to find a compromise with local and state government during the COVID pandemic is crucial.
Tiffany Gering

How many years have you been in Chelan County?
15 years.

How many years have you served in public service?
None.

What is your occupation?
Chief Operating Officer, Lake Chelan Chamber of Commerce.

What is your mission statement?
I started my family here and I intend to grow old in the Lake Chelan Valley. My hope is that my two adorable little girls will, like me, want to return home someday. I am passionate about making a difference for the people in Chelan County. I am not looking for a job, nor am I a politician. Rather, I see the County Commissioner role as a voice for the people. Along the way, meeting the people of Chelan County, listening to concerns affecting our county and discussing potential solutions.

I have had the privilege of shadowing the Commissioners. I have been attending session since January as well as many board meetings the Commissioners are required to hold seats. I have met with the Assessor, Auditor, Treasurer, Public Works, Natural Resources and Community Development Directors and the Sheriff. I have toured the jail and Rivercom and have had the privilege to do a ride-along. Yet there is still so much more to learn.

While the County Commissioners have significant responsibilities in overseeing 14 different departments/organizations and holding seats on 9+ boards, I am excited to be part of important decision-making processes regarding land use, economic development and mental health. While I know County Commissioners are able to allocate money to these issues, that isn’t always the solution. I won’t always have an answer, but I will always strive to find a resolution. I am Tiffany Gering, running for Chelan County Commissioner District 3.
Why should people vote for you?

As a Sales Manager for 15 years, I have worked with small businesses throughout Chelan County. Being successful in sales means that I know how to listen to people, hear their issues, consider all options to solve problems and execute a plan of action. As the Chief Operating Officer at the Chamber, a few of my responsibilities include selling all advertising, day-to-day operations, managing staff, building maintenance, event planning, assisting guests and answering questions as needed. My business degree and my personality afford me the skill set to work with the $40 million budgets Commissioners manage, knowledge to learn all aspects of an issue and the managerial skills to work with staff and committees.

I am a problem solver, a communicator and most importantly, a listener. A Commissioner must be able to hear both sides of an issue, do the research, understand the impact and then make a decision that best suits the county now and in the future. I have no agenda except to help make Chelan County a good place to live, work and play. The taxpayers are my boss and the only promises I make is to listen to the constituents, to research and educate myself and to help find sensible solutions on issues that face our county.

I have been told that I am a tenacious leader. I am not afraid of tough issues. There is definitely a lot to learn but I’m not afraid of a learning curve, in fact, I rather enjoy it. Over the last couple of months, I have immersed myself in the issues the County Commissioners are working on and I am ready for the challenge.

What is the most pressing issue in Chelan County?

The most pressing issue in Chelan County is not only learning how to live with COVID-19, but to thrive. Plans to transition into new phases, while ensuring safety, so our economy can open, must be a top priority. Commissioners will also need to start cutting costs wherever able since the budget is going to be affected.
Congressional District 8
Corey Bailey

How many years have you lived in Washington State?
I was born and raised in the Eastside of Seattle – Bothell/Redmond. With the exception 3 years living in the Portland area, I have spent my entire life living in the suburbs of Seattle. Currently, I live in Black Diamond, a small town in East King County.

How many years have you served in public service?
While I was going to college for my undergraduate degree, I worked for a school district as a janitor to pay my way through college. For a total of 4 years. In elected office, I have no experience. I believe that gives me an upper hand as I am not owned by any special interest groups or lobbyist. The people are my special interest and I will represent them fully. Every vote that will be put before me will also be put before my constituents and I will vote according to the results of that poll.

What is your occupation?
I am a 3rd generation fisherman and currently, I work for Silver Bay Seafood’s as their Environmental Compliance Director. It is my job to interpret regulations and work cooperatively with the leaders of my company to implement policies and procedures so that we are in compliance. I deal with a huge variety of people in my company from the entry level individual that is willing to do anything, all the way up to the most senior fisherman that knows how everything works. That makes me seasoned at reaching across the table and bringing several sides together to gain a consensus on how to resolve an issue.

What is your mission statement?
Give Congress Hell on the Hill. I was discussing campaign strategy with a good friend of mine and he told me “Welp, I know that if you make it in there you will give Congress Hell on Capitol Hill”, that is how we came up with the mission statement. What does it mean? I owe nothing to Special Interests or Lobbyists or Democrats or Republicans. Therefore, Congress won’t know how to handle someone that won’t bow to their every demand.

Why should people vote for you?

I asked my son the same question and he said because my dad is cool. I am certainly not the establishment’s choice candidate for this role. But I am the best choice for the people. I am a simple middle-class working husband and father that would like a better country for my family. Congress is at a breaking point. This year you are voting between the Republic of the US or the Communist State of the US. If the democrat majority stands in this election, they will continue to promote their socialist agenda until they are successful. I will do everything possible to ensure that will not happen. I will fight for the rights of the middle and low class. I will not vote in favor of anything that raises taxes. I will not vote for anything that is contrary to the constitution. I am a Pro-2nd Amendment, Pro-life, Pro-business, conservative.

What do you think is the most pressing issue in the 8th Congressional District?

That is a hard question...our district is not majority red or blue. The liberal west side of the district and the conservative east side of the district make it a very unique district and the issues facing each area are vastly different. That being said, some common elements include getting our small businesses able to reopen, lowering our outrageously high taxes, getting our people back to work, and helping them survive through this COVID recession. One other issue that is worth bringing up is that the east side of the district would like to see separation between themselves and Olympia. For too long the east side has dealt with policy and regulations coming out of Olympia that makes no sense for rural farming, mining or ranching communities. Many of these regulations need to be handled at the local levels, not the state or federal levels. One other item that I would like to point out, I am the only candidate in this race that fully supports and will work towards the federal legalization and decriminalization of marijuana.
Jesse Jensen

How many years have you lived in Washington State?

I have lived in Washington State for 9 years. I was stationed at Joint Base Lewis McChord, where I served as a Captain in 2nd Ranger Battalion, part of Joint Special Operations Command or JSOC. I met my wife Mindy while stationed here. Mindy has lived in Washington her entire life and is a WSU grad.

How many years have you served in public service?

Three years working for Senator John Thune of South Dakota in his Washington D.C. office, and seven years serving in the US Army.

What is your occupation?

Before going full time on the campaign, I was a Senior Program Manager at Amazon. After graduating from Columbia Business School, I worked in the Tech Sector (Microsoft and Amazon) and the Health Care Sector (DaVita Kidney Dialysis). I’ve managed large teams and $100 million business divisions in my post Army career.

What is your mission statement?

To bring common sense, Servant Leadership to the “other” Washington. I first saw Servant Leadership from my father, who was the town Pastor, as he put the needs of his congregation before his own. I also experienced it in the Army where I served with two Medal of Honor recipients and other admirable leaders. As a Captain in the Army’s elite Special Operations Community, I always put the needs of the men and women in my command above my own. If elected I will fight for the people of the 8th Congressional District just as hard as I did in the Army.
Why should people vote for you?

I will never stop fighting for the people in this District. I will bring common sense, servant leadership to D.C. and I promise to work across the aisle when it’s best for my constituents to get issues resolved. My opponent has a 100% voting record with Nancy Pelosi and in the last three months has given her proxy vote to Pelosi instead of being in D.C., representing you. She’s refused to condemn Autonomous Zones like the one in Seattle, refused to condemn the Defund The Police movement, voted to give $14,000 debit cards to illegal immigrants and blanketed early release to murderers and rapists in our Prison system with a $3 trillion price tag. I will fight the radical left and will fight for the diverse needs of the 8th. I had the pleasure of speaking with Secretary of Defense Jim Mattis about this race and how I would serve Washingtonians like him. He told me, “Jesse, we need more young guys like you. Leaders who are willing to knock down the bad ideas on the left, knock down the bad ideas on the right, and make the middle bigger for everybody”. And that is exactly what I plan to do. I have been endorsed by the Farm Bureau, the Mainstream Republicans, Dave Reichert, Slade Gorton, Rob McKenna, Sheriff Brian Burnett, and Congressman Dan Crenshaw.

What do you think is the most pressing issue in the 8th Congressional District?

The most pressing issue in the 8th and the Country right now is jobs and the economy. De-regulation and tax cuts were working before the virus lockdown hit. We had historic unemployment numbers, non-manager wage increases, and a roaring stock market. I will fight to bring that kind of thinking back to D.C. and will ensure that farmers are competitive globally. I was heartened to see that Timothy Hay was included in Phase 1 of the recent Chinese Trade deal. I will continue to work with the Administration to ensure that orchardists and farmers have access to global markets and can compete on even footing. We need to get the economy going again soon though so we can recover from the economic destruction this pandemic has inflicted as quickly as possible. It is Congress’s role to provide a hand up to businesses and households to get them through the initial response to the pandemic while we “flatten the curve”. Know that I will fight for common sense, business friendly solutions to get us through this pandemic and get our State back to work.
James Mitchell

How many years have you lived in Washington State?
24 years.

How many years have you served in public service?
20+ (improving public awareness of issues, volunteering and promoting actual solutions)

What is your occupation?
Entrepreneur and small business owner.

What is your mission statement?
“Uniting Us All For A Better Life”

Why should people vote for you?
I have a heart for service, and I am “Pro Life for Whole Life”! That includes every stage of life. I have practical, successful solutions that will provide more affordable housing, new innovative manufacturing and agricultural jobs throughout this Congressional District! These jobs will provide wages that pay for essential life needs for you and your family. My solutions include new approaches to immigration related employment, increased healthcare options and a stronger focus on support for the family unit. This includes support for women during their pregnancy term and lowering the barriers for women who do not feel qualified to parent a child. It takes a village to not only raise a child but support a child in the womb during that nine-month term. Together, we can build our community with a focus on affordable housing, job availability and wages that afford livability in Washington State. I am not a politician. I am not wealthy, I am relatable to you, the working class. I am an entrepreneur, small business leader, having built success that’s proven. Therefore, you will have the confidence in me that I have a vision and the necessary tools I will bring together to implement everything needed, to fulfill my promise to you that I truly am “Uniting Us All For A Better Life”!

What do you think is the most pressing issue in the 8th Congressional District?
Affordable housing.
Kim Schrier, MD

How many years have you lived in Washington State?
19 years.

How many years have you served in public service?
2 years.

What is your occupation?
Member of Congress, Washington’s 8th Congressional District and Pediatrician in Issaquah, Washington for nearly 20 years.

What is your mission statement?
I am honored to represent families throughout Washington’s 8th Congressional District. These are the families I had the pleasure of serving for the over 17 years as a pediatrician in Issaquah, and it is the privilege of a lifetime to continue serving our community in Congress. I look at the issues facing our district as a scientist, doctor, and parent, with an eye towards making sure that the patients I cared for have access to great, affordable healthcare, clean air and water, an excellent public education, and a shot at the American Dream by building an economy that works for everyone.

Why should people vote for you?
It has been my honor to serve and connect with communities all across the diverse and beautiful 8th Congressional District. As the only member from the Pacific Northwest on the Agriculture Committee, I am a strong advocate for our farming communities. We continue to work together, increasing the competitiveness of agriculture in our country, finding evidence-based solutions to combat climate change, and protecting our food, and clean air and water. During the COVID-19 public health emergency, I’ve introduced bipartisan legislation to provide access to flexible funding for farmers and rural businesses, so they have the tools to respond and rebuild.
What is the most pressing issue in the 8th Congressional District?

Now, more than ever, it is critical that everyone in the 8th Congressional District has access to affordable healthcare and the prescription drugs they need. As a doctor and someone living with a pre-existing condition, I know firsthand what it means to worry about health insurance and rising costs. I was diagnosed with Type 1 diabetes as a teenager, and since then I’ve seen the cost of my insulin skyrocket. That’s why I’ve worked across the aisle with other medical doctors in Congress to protect coverage for those with pre-existing conditions, expand Medicare to include more comprehensive coverage, fund rural hospitals, fund vaccine research, and lower the cost of prescription drugs.

Keith R. Swank

How many years have you lived in Washington State?

33 years.

How many years have you served in public service?

34 years in public service. 30 as a police officer and 8 as active duty Army and reserves.

What is your occupation?

I am a Captain with the Seattle Police Department. I oversee the Metro Special Response Section-SWAT, Arson/Bomb Squad, Harbor Patrol and K9.

What is your mission statement?

I have been wearing a uniform my entire adult life defending our country and our communities, and I will defend you and your values in Washington D.C.

Why should people vote for you?

I will stand up for you and defend your values. I am a proven leader, and I have been leading men and women for years. Also, I am not a career politician. I want to do the work of the people and then return back home, as our founders intended.
What is the most pressing issue in the 8th Congressional District?

Right now, the most pressing issue is the shutdown of businesses and the effects it is having on employers and employees. The economic impact on families is devastating. We need to open back up.

Evan Jones

How many years have you lived in Washington State?
We just moved here last year when my spouse was recruited to a senior post at the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory in Richland.

How many years have you served in public service?
This is my first foray for any public office.

What is your occupation?
Enterprise Learning Consultant and Workplace Training Designer (learn-thrive.com).

What is your mission statement?
In the post-COVID age we have learned that we need representation in Washington that functions first, last and always to help families and businesses to thrive through both challenge and opportunity.

We need leadership that is shrewd, prepared, capable, communicative, and entrepreneurial. We need independent thinkers who give every constituent ready access to federal resources and policy making.

Can the partisan morass that is Congress in 2020 deliver this kind of leadership? Simply: if “regular Joneses” like you and I (whether you are conservative, moderate, or progressive) could transform Congress to make it work for us – what would we do?

Congress must now focus intently on progress, without putting a premium on who gets the credit. It must be service-driven and accomplishment-oriented. Representatives must now think, act, and legislate based on how policy and programs actually impact our workplaces and neighborhoods, not their own political prospects. They must commit focus to action over words, and measured progress over political gamesmanship. They need to use the best ideas from all sources – and actively build bridges toward all perspectives. Most important, their chief service must now be to regularly provide constituents with reliable facts and diverse perspectives on key issues of the day, so we can make judgements and decisions that will help our families and businesses to thrive.

Why should people vote for you?

I am running as an independent for Congress in the 4th District because I believe the partisan process is thoroughly and irretrievably broken; it could never produce progress-oriented leadership and constituent service like this. But I sincerely believe we can break the grip of party politics and self-promotion in Congress and make our region a catalyst for a national resurgence at this unique moment in our history. Visit my website (evanjones.us) to learn more about our “independent approach” to transforming Congress.

What is the most pressing issue in the 4th Congressional District?

I believe the quality of the information and communication citizens receive and businesses get from their representatives is the key issues 4th District voters face in this election.

Here’s why: the number one role of a Member of Congress should not be the self-promotion, perpetual re-election campaigning, and partisan-propaganda generation that it has become now.

Instead, we need our representatives to work every day to get all the data and facts on the table so that we can all be up-to-speed and have progress-oriented discussions in our neighborhoods and communities on the key issues that impact our lives.

The current partisan mess in our nation – where the only information we get is from partisan media, always-campaigning representatives, single-focus PACs and lobbyists, and self-promoting businesses, is not good for the welfare of any community, any family, or any business.

We desperately need representatives in Congress who devote the bulk of their energies to giving constituents all sides of every relevant issue of importance to the community and the economy – and stop wasting time bickering or pointing fingers on wedge issues that don’t really impact us.

Give us facts we can use to thrive in our lives and businesses. Stop putting impediments in our way. We’ll take it from there. Stop trying to separate us all into political tribes and keep us at each other’s throats so you can keep yourself in power. Just tell us the truth and let us make the judgements and decisions on the issues that affect us at the grassroots.

I have drafted a detailed 6-point plan for changing the work of Congress so that it serves us. Not the party bosses and dark money in D.C. It is available at my campaign website, evenjones.us.

Dan Newhouse

How many years have you lived in Washington State?
Lifelong resident of Washington State.

How many years have you served in public service?

What is your occupation?
Third-generation Yakima Valley farmer, small business owner, and Congressman for Washington’s Fourth District.

What is your mission statement?
As a third-generation Yakima Valley farmer, Central Washington’s issues are truly my issues. One of the biggest reasons I decided to run for Congress was the extreme frustration I had with nonsensical regulations and mandates constantly being handed down for the government about how to run my farm. Unelected and unaccountable federal bureaucrats in Washington, D.C. who likely have never been to Central Washington, and have never worked on a farm, should not be allowed to micromanage us from 2500 miles away. That’s why one of my primary goals in Congress has been to move power over land-use decisions from Washington, D.C. to the local level.

Congress must also ensure the government lives within its means and spends taxpayer dollars wisely and the spending culture that has presided in our nation’s capital must change. Ensuring we get our fiscal house back in order is one of my biggest priorities.
As Central Washington’s voice in Congress, I’ve also made it my mission to be an advocate for policies that promote economic growth, job creation and opportunities here at home and opportunities here at home and across the country. I want to continue to be a problem-solver on all the issues that are important to our district, whether it’s fixing our broken immigration system and securing our borders, protecting our dams that are under attack from activist judges and radical environmentalists in Seattle and Portland, or ensuring our veterans get the care they were promised when they answered the call to serve our country.

Why should people vote for you?

I am an effective voice as Central Washington’s representative in Congress, and I want to continue the important work I am doing. As a former state legislator and one of only about a dozen farmers in Congress, I am uniquely qualified to represent Central Washington’s values in Washington, D.C. I am proud of the work I’ve done, but there’s still more we need to do.

I want to work with my colleagues to pass my bill to modernize the Endangered Species Act, which has been a huge source of frustration for farmers and ranchers across the country for decades. I want to see the Death Tax repealed, which is a 40% federal tax that often forces farmers and ranchers to sell nearly half of their farm when passed from one generation to the next. When President Trump and Republicans in Congress passed tax reform in 2017, we sheltered more small farms from the Death Tax, but I still want it completely repealed. I want to see Congress pass a Balanced Budget Amendment to the Constitution, which is the very first bill I signed onto when I became a Congressman. And I truly want to fix our immigration system. Our country needs a solution that prioritizes our national security and secures our border, provides certainty to law-abiding young people who were brought to our country through no fault of their own and provides a reliable and legal agricultural workforce. I believe it can be done, and I remain committed to seeing it through.

It is a huge responsibility and great privilege to work every day on the issues that matter to us the most, and I humbly ask the people of the Fourth District to allow me to continue my hard work on their behalf for another two years.
What is the most pressing issue in the 4th Congressional District?

Ensuring our economy can come roaring back from the damage caused by COVID-19 and our government’s response to it.

I was proud that Congress came together to pass the CARES Act, which created the Paycheck Protection Program, helped workers who suddenly lost their jobs, assisted small business owners in keeping their operations viable, and created the Coronavirus Food Assistance Program to keep farmers afloat and mitigate disruptions in the food chain supply. My office and I continue to assist employers and families in obtaining the help they deserve.

However, the federal government cannot afford to keep pumping trillions of dollars into the economy as workers remain idle. It’s time to get back to work in a safe and responsible.

I was initially supportive of Governor Inslee’s early efforts to slow the spread of COVID-19, but now over three months have passed, and little has changed. People are losing their livelihoods as a result of the Governor’s slow walk response.

It is unfair to keep small businesses shut down while their major retailer counterparts have been allowed to remain open from the beginning of this pandemic. If we trust large retailers to exercise caution and social distancing in public spaces, why not local businesses?

I will keep pressing the Governor to treat all businesses equally. Until he does, I will continue doing everything I can to ensure that the federal government provides the bridge for workers, small businesses, and farmers to make it through this crisis.
Sarena Sloot, ARNP

How many years have you lived in Washington State?
I have lived here all my life.

How many years have you served in public service?
I have worked in healthcare since I was a junior in high school, so almost 20 years.

What is your occupation?
Nurse practitioner.

What is your mission statement?
Health, choice, change.

Why should people vote for you?
My purpose is to advocate for the health and well-being of the 4th District just as I have advocated for the health, wellness, and personal liberties of my patients for the past 15 years. We need change in the 4th District, and I am the change we need.

What is the most pressing issue in the 4th Congressional District?
Creating a balance to maintain physical and mental health while ensuring economic stability with decisions that are based on transparent fact and guided by both personal and community values, beliefs, and choices.
Tracy “Justice” Wright

How many years have you lived in Washington State?
50 years.

How many years have you served in public service?
My life is dedicated to the service of my fellow citizen.

What is your occupation?
Efficiency Expert.

What is your mission statement?
My mission is to make our country clean, safe and healthy and to reallocate resources for true wealth which is A Clean Safe Environment for families to thrive. I want to change the average work week to 24 hours a week as it has the highest productivity. I believe every interest is a special interest and our resources should be allocated to the individual citizen instead of giving our resources to corporations who rape our natural resources and take the gains personally, often sheltering profits offshore. U.S. corporations should be required to provide a clean environment, living wages, share profits with U.S. citizens, profit share with employees who are citizens, and should provide a safe working environment. U.S. citizens should be the owner of U.S. businesses and property.

Why should people vote for you?
I protest the lack of accountability our legislators have. Our leaders should be held accountable and I want to have access to the data so I can do some accounting. I am Protestant.

I was raised Free Methodist and had two great grandfathers who were pastors. Free Methodists didn’t believe in Slavery during abolishment times and I still don’t. I believe every interest is a special interest.

I am an efficiency expert and have run productivity numbers for two Fortune 500 Companies with the same result for manufacturing and service industries. I endorse the 24-hour work week. Four - 6-hour shifts per week is the highest productivity for employees!
Then why do we have a 40-hour work week? This was put in place as a maximum work week and is obvious to millions of Americans who are underpaid slaves that it isn’t enforced, and most aren’t making ends meet while working the 40 maximum hours. I wish our doctors and nurses had been working shorter hours all along so they could ramp up during an epidemic or prepare for emergencies such as war instead of starting out exhausted from long required shifts.

Minimum wage? Our problem is the maximum wage. Billionaires not paying taxes while they pay slave wages and hand out mandatory maximum hours. Our current representative has spent his entire career trying to enable his plantation’s slave labor (H2-A) instead of figuring out how to make his plantation environmentally sustainable and a good source of sustainable income for our citizens.

Citizens, what responsibility do we have? How do we handle corrupt politicians? Vote out incumbents who voted to bail out banks and billionaires again. Every U.S. citizen could have received $75,000 per person. Now that is stimulating. Instead they milked us along while bailing out their billionaire enablers again. And again, we foot the viral bills with our tax dollars!

What is the most pressing issue in the 4th Congressional District?

Reallocation of resources to the citizens. Sustainable farming for healthy food, water, and soil quality. Accountability by our leaders. Our elected leaders have voted for Congressional Care for themselves but cannot agree on how to care for WE THE PEOPLE!
