

Dr Joe Arminio is the founder and Senior Instructor of Statesman Debate Institute (SDI). Now in its fourth year and backstopped by a think tank project of 20 years, SDI provides a variety of educational services to the “full demographic”--middle school, high school and college students, professionals and 55 plus. SDI’s services range over public speaking, debate, leadership, public policy and history. We hold summer debate camps, academic-year student conferences and a variety of onsite and online coaching.

Dr Arminio himself has coached both business and political leaders since 1996 and has coached students for the past three years. He ran for the US House and has advised Members of Congress and candidates. MIT awarded him the doctorate in Political Science.

For more about SDI, see StatesmanDebate.com; and for more about our Senior Instructor, specifically, see StatesmanDebate.com/leadership.