

STRONG SUPPORT FOR SECOND ONTARIO LOCKDOWN IF NECESSARY – SURVEY

A new survey by Campaign Research, conducted for the Toronto Star, has found 74% of Ontarians support another lockdown should COVID-19 infections continue to increase to levels reached last spring.

Respondents were split on whether the Ontario government should return the province back to Stage 2 due to the increase in cases over the past few weeks. The survey found 47% cent of respondents felt should return to Stage 2 of reopening, 41% per cent believed the province should remain in the current Stage 3, while 12% were not sure.
