Tracy Klingler

Tracy Klingler, a former lawyer and federal magistrate judge, opened Frank in 2015. Beginning as a furniture and home décor retail space, Frank has evolved into a curated gift boutique featuring a collection of unique jewelry, books, home goods, apparel and art.

As a lawyer, Tracy litigated numerous professional liability, breach of contract, securities fraud and class action cases. Over her 25-year career, Tracy also conducted both large and small scale internal investigations and defended corporate and individual clients before state and federal agencies.

Tracy graduated from Vanderbilt University in 1987 where she received a B.A. in mathematics and philosophy. She received her J.D. in 1990 from Vanderbilt University School of Law and served as an associate editor of the Vanderbilt Journal of Transnational Law while in school.

Tracy began her legal career as a law clerk for The Honorable Ricardo H. Hinojosa, U.S. District Judge for the Southern District of Texas, and then entered private practice in Austin, Texas with Winstead PC. She later joined Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld, LLP, and in 2002, was appointed U.S. Magistrate Judge for the Southern District of Texas. Tracy served as a Magistrate Judge for three years before re-entering private practice with King & Spalding LLP in Atlanta, Georgia.

In Atlanta, Tracy met and married Peter Muller and still considers Peter's two children, Courtney and Thomas the best wedding gift she received. In 2005, Tracy and Peter welcomed their daughter, Frankie to the family, and in 2011 relocated to Winter Park to be closer to Tracy's parents.

Tracy, Peter and Frankie live in Winter Park with Izzie, their mischievous Portuguese Water Dog who is often found greeting guests and stealing lunches out of the break room at Frank.
