Isis P. Jones

CIO/EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF EDUCATION – Full Sail University

Isis Jones serves as Full Sail University’s Chief Information Officer as well as Executive Director of Education. During her nearly three-decades at Full Sail, the institution has grown from offering two certificate programs to awarding undergraduate- and graduate-level degrees in numerous specializations in the fields of emerging technology, media production and entertainment.

She earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Information Systems and Computer Programming and became not only the youngest employee but the second of only two women to join the Systems Programming team in 1984 at Harcourt, Brace and Jovanovich. In 1988, she became an IT consultant for Full Sail.

In the early 1990s Ms. Jones authored one of the nation’s first Digital Media degrees for Full Sail. She has also authored and managed the development and deployment of numerous other campus-based degree programs as well as the origination and evolution of Full Sail’s virtual education efforts, including online Bachelor- and Master-degree programs.

Since becoming Full Sail’s Chief Information Officer and Executive Director of Education, the university has received numerous awards celebrating its innovation, and over the past two years, she has been recognized for her part in the college’s outstanding COVID-19 response.

Previously, Ms. Jones, alongside her husband, Garry Jones, president of Full Sail, appeared on Winter Park Magazine’s “Most Influential People List.”

Currently, Ms. Jones contributes to the Central Florida business community in the following capacities.

- Facilitator for Florida K-12 School Support: Virtual Education Assistance.
- She has been a founding sponsor for the Foundation for Foster Children since 2015.
- Co-host and co-sponsor for The Nature Conservancy Florida Chapter.
- Ms. Jones’ additional affiliations include her standing as a member of Apple’s University Executive Forum, SIGGRAPH (Special Interest Group on Computer Graphics), NMC (New Media Consortium), and FAPSC
(Florida Association of Postsecondary Schools and Colleges). She also serves on the Board of Winter Park Magazine.