

Shop Local this Holiday Season

The importance of shopping local can't be stressed enough. The hard facts such as the local dollar being spent 7 times again in our community, the benefit to the local taxes building a healthier community, supporting those who support you through giving back to our community, building community character and charm with unique quaint shops, excellent customer service, saving the environment and more.

By shopping local you can see, touch and feel prior to purchase, visit our local stores first. By actually going into our many shops you have the opportunity to truly enjoy the quaintness of our community. Strolling through our beautiful lit downtown enjoying all the festivities of the holiday season, store windows decorated in holiday themes, the sounds of carol's being played through the store and scent of pine and cider wafting through the air. The customer service and products are always second to none. If our local retailer doesn't have the exact item you need, they will order for you and it will be here in the same amount of time if you had gone online.

Most consumers think of shopping local as to visiting a brick and mortar stores. That doesn't have to be the case. Our local businesses have awesome websites that allow you to shop local and there is no dress code. Plus, if you really don't want to go out, have it delivered to you. Our local merchants will ship it to you, even across the street.

Shopping local truly does build a stronger community, enhances the character and charm of our community, gives back to our community and most importantly helps build our local economy.

Think and shop local this holiday season.

From the Desk of the CEO

Debra K. Boelz

Another midterm election cycle is in the final days. Political pundits predicted tight races and an abundance of negative ads on the State level. Unfortunately they were right. On a local level, there are good candidates that truly have the best interest of the constituents in mind. Seek information from trusted sources and vote November 6th. Thank you to all the candidates who have their name on a ballot.

My column this month is the odds and ends (i.e. desk clearing)

- November is the month that we start working on the 2019 Arts & Crafts, Market Place and Man Cave Fairs. A key to the success of these events is attracting great vendors. If you know of someone who has handcrafted items or a commercial product to sell, please send them our way. Booth fees are $220 for a 10' x 10' space in either fair.*

The other side of a successful Fair is the shoppers. Please include in your holiday greetings the dates for the 2019 event which is September 7 & 8 so family and friends can plan accordingly!
- November is the month that we work on the 2019 Membership Directory. If any of your contact information or product line has changed, PLEASE let us know ASAP. And if you do not have a description of your business, please add a few sentences to help potential customers find your goods and services.*
- Here is my annual soap box speech on Chamber Bucks: With the holiday season around the corner, I would be remiss if I did not remind you to remember that Chamber Bucks are a great gift! Chamber Bucks, the local buying program sponsored by your Chamber, ensures that local dollars stay local. Many of our businesses utilize the Chamber Buck program for employee incentives, recognition and appreciation gifts. During any given month, about $10,000 in Chamber Bucks are circulating through the community.*

Chamber Bucks spend just like cash at participating Chamber-member businesses. Please consider Chamber Bucks as you formulate your gift-giving list.

Business owners are encouraged to train their register operators on accepting the Chamber Bucks in a welcoming manner – it is good for business today and in the future! Bucks are accepted the same as a personal check.

In closing, the busy holiday season is rapidly approaching. Please remember your local merchants for your gift buying needs. Purchases large and small go a long way in keeping our local economy going! Shopping on line may be convenient 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, but where is the fun and excitement of the holiday season sitting in front of a computer screen? on November 6th.

The attendees have broken the project into 3 areas: signage, events and marketing. The logo pictured here is what we will be using on marketing materials. The events group is exploring Thursday night events in the downtown area what we are calling the "Cone Zone". ## Bill Blazer leaves footprint on Minnesota Chamber Federation

By Doug Loon

Bill Blazer retired last month as senior vice president of public affairs and business development at the Minnesota Chamber. His legacy will live on in the Minnesota Chamber Federation and communities across the state. I am hard-pressed to think of another individual with the knowledge and passion for developing and growing Minnesota's economy.

His accomplishments during a stellar 27-year career have left an indelible mark on all programs and initiatives of this organization. No where is this more evident than in the Grow Minnesota! Partnership, the Minnesota Chamber's distinctive private-sector job retention and creation program. The brainchild of Blazer, the program is in its 16th year and operates with 70-plus local chamber partners.

Each year business leaders connect with nearly 1,000 companies. Every Grow Minnesota! conversation has four purposes. We thank the business owner or manager for investing in our state and employing Minnesotans. We learn as much as we can about the business and its Minnesota activities. We ask if we can assist the company to stay and grow in our state. We ask what policymakers can do to improve our state's overall business environment.

Grow Minnesota! as a program, and Bill as an individual, truly represent the eyes and ears of a comprehensive economic development effort, enriching the state's ability to address the needs of businesses in all corners of the state and to keep them growing in Minnesota.

Blazer is a walking encyclopedia of the state's economic landscape. He has likely visited every county in Minnesota and has personally visited hundreds of businesses in all stretches of the state. He knows firsthand the challenges to develop the state's economy; he can also showcase specific successes. For every business problem, he can provide a list of "best practices" to drive a solution.

In addition to spearheading Grow Minnesota!, Blazer was a strategic thinker with a keen mind for developing public policy that served all Minnesotans in the Twin Cities and Greater Minnesota alike. He was a doer and a problem-solver, never satisfied unless he could deliver results. He was a firm believer that not every problem needed a legislative fix. The Grow Minnesota! Partnership is a perfect example of how he encouraged businesses to seek private-sector solutions to everyday business challenges.

It's been my honor to work alongside Bill during my career in the Chamber community. I have long admired his work when I served the U.S. Chamber's vice president for regional affairs and advocacy for the Midwest Region, and now close-up the last three years as president of the Minnesota Chamber.

Blazer worked to grow the state's economy in small ways and in big ways. He did it whether on the job or off the job. He did it every day. He may no longer be sitting behind his desk at the Minnesota Chamber, but I'm confident he will continue to work every day for the betterment of all Minnesotans.

I'm sure I speak for the entire Minnesota Chamber Federation when I say, "Bill, job well done."
