Question 3 Describe how you would use your elected position to help business growth in Newnan.	I will work to keep property and sales taxes as low as possible. I will work to make sure that any regulations we impose on our small business owners are few in number, common sense in nature and fairly enforced. We must give businesses the best opportunity to be successful and prosper.	City Council members set the guidance of the development agenda. We take the feedback from our residents on what they want to see; we work to inform the residents of the possibilities and impacts of potential growth; we listen to our current business owners on their concerns and successes and we work together to determine the direction Newnan should go.	Newnan currently has and will continue to need people who best represent its values and personality, a person who will be its Ambassador. The City needs a council member who understands the people, understands the guidelines and can conduct itself in a professional manner
Question 4 List the greatest need(s) in Newnan to continue its prosperity.	Keep taxes and crime low. Maintain the character of the city.	Smart investments and growth into areas like educational support, business opportunities, public health and safety, as well as infrastructure are key for ensuring we are attracting the things that keep Newnan as great as it is. Smart growth is key.	Homeownership is vital. To the individual or family, it represents security, a piece of the American Dream, a stake in the ground, happiness. To the community, it represents investment, increased volunteerism, improved health, and less crime. To the local economy, homeowners tend to buy more goods and services in their local economy, and offer local businesses the opportunity to have a customer for life. We need to strengthen homeownership by having a local Homestead Exemption on property taxes.
Question 5 If elected, what do you want your greatest	That I worked well with existing City Council to maintain the character of Newnan as the City of Homes while promoting responsible growth.
