From the Executive Director

Jim Spring

How to Prepare for a worry-free vacation... Even the best-planned event can encounter an unforeseen glitch on the big day. Some problems you can't avoid, like bad weather, but you can anticipate certain circumstances and have a backup to avoid a messy situation. When planning, always have on hand hard copies of a checklist, flowchart and logistics, the names of staff, vendors and emergency personnel and all signed contracts, permits and/or licenses. Do a walk-through for all staffing personnel at least three to five days prior to the vacation. By planning alternatives, you'll be prepared for just about anything. First and foremost always stay calm. Visualize all events from the perspective of staff. Issues can often be resolved in a cool manner, and in most instances the audiences will not know there was a crisis.

Thanks to Luncheon Host, Sponsor and Speaker

MACC says "THANKS" to Holiday Inn Cleveland – Mayfield for hosting a wonderful member luncheon for our June meeting. Excellent food and staff service.

Our speaker, John Grabowski, presented an very informative power point program and answered many member questions on immigration and migration in America.

Our June luncheon sponsor was Aberdeen Crossings and thanks to Nancy Walker-Mulle we learned more about this Highland Heights Unique New Assisted Living Community.
