

Chantney Stuckey

Stratford University

Chantney Stuckey is currently the Manager of Career Services at Stratford University located in Newport News, Virginia. She is an alumna of Marymount University and a member of Delta Sigma Theta Incorporated.

Creating a reputation of servicing the community, Chantney Stuckey is an award-winning career services professional and certified Career Coach. She has a diverse background in academic affairs, business relations, career development, and entrepreneurship. She has been assisting clientele with gaining employment, enhancing careers, and building stellar resumes for over 10 years. Traveling and working internationally has given her the knowledge and skills to connect with people of diverse cultures as well as help create gainful career paths in various industries. Chantney has worked in London within the fashion industry and continues to produce international fashion events in the nation's capital. With a passion for education and community, Chantney continues to mentor and motivate others to reach their career and business goals; one student at a time