

Sabrina Y. Jones
Director of Strategic Partnerships
The Mariners' Museum and Park

Owner
CC by Julia Cake Design

Sabrina lives life by the seat of her pants, always excited about new challenges and opportunities—but let's be honest, this can lead to serious burnout! As a full-time director with the ever-growing Mariners' Museum, a one-woman cake designer for CC by Julia, a wife, and the mom of a special needs son—she's learned a few things about navigating the daily obstacle course of life. Don't worry, you won't get any yoga or meditation tips in this session, Sabrina enjoys being authentic about success, the challenges and pitfalls along the way. Attendees will laugh, possibly cry and hopefully walk away with a renewed sense of purpose.

Sabrina has spent 20 years combined in private, government, entrepreneurship and now, the non-profit sector. Her experience includes public relations, community development, strategic planning, directing regional initiatives, grant writing, as well as program development and implementation. Sabrina has an undergraduate degree from Norfolk State University in Communications and Public Relations and a graduate degree in Public Administration & Non-Profit Management from Old Dominion University. She serves on the board of Newport News Educational Foundation and Alternatives, Inc. Sabrina is married to her best friend of 23 years, Ronald, and has a 10-year old son, Eric.
