

CSM Muriel A. Macdonald
Command Sergeant Major
733d Mission Support Group
Joint Base Langley-Eustis

Command Sergeant Major Macdonald is a native of San Francisco, California. She enlisted in the United States Army in November 1998. She completed both Basic Combat Training and Advanced Individual Training at Fort Jackson, SC and was awarded the Military Occupation Specialty of 71L, Administrative Specialist.

Command Sergeant Major Macdonald currently serves as the 733d Mission Support Group Command Sergeant Major, Joint Base Langley-Eustis assigned at Fort Eustis, Virginia. She recently served as the 18th Combat Sustainment Support Battalion Command Sergeant Major in Grafenwoehr, Germany. Other duty locations throughout her career include: Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri; Battalion Baumholder, Germany; Fort Jackson, SC; Fort Bragg, North Carolina, Fort Bliss, Texas, and Fort Shafter, Hawaii. Deployments include: Operation Enduring Freedom, Qatar and Afghanistan, Operation New Dawn, Iraq and Operation Unified Response, Haiti.

A few of Command Sergeant Major Macdonald's military and civilian education includes: Sergeants Major Academy Class 66, Airborne School, Drill Sergeant School, Human Resources Plans and Operations Course, and a Bachelor of Professional Studies Business and Management awarded from Excelsior College.

Command Sergeant Major Macdonald is married to Andrew Macdonald of Naples, Florida. Together they have five sons Jorden (19), David (16), Amir (14), Omar (11), and Elijah (3).