

Jackie Ferree, M.B.A.

Associate Dean of Finance and Administration

William & Mary Raymond A. Mason School of Business

Jackie Ferree, M.B.A., is the Associate Dean of Finance and Administration at the Raymond A. Mason School of Business at William & Mary. She has held the position since November of 2015, and oversees every non-faculty employee in the Mason School of Business.

Jackie began her career in 1987 as an Accounting Clerk in the science and biotechnical industry at Informational Dimensions, which was acquired from the Battelle Memorial Institute by the Online Computer Library Center (OCLC) in the early 1990's. She then joined Sterling Commerce, which is now owned by IBM, in 1991, and she rose Sterling's ranks to become their Director of Finance and Administration. Jackie returned to Battelle in 2007 as Managing Director, where she would stay for six years.

In 2013, Jackie pivoted her career path from the tech industry to higher education. She began at George Washington University's largest entity, The Columbian College of Arts and Science, where she was Managing Director of Finance and Administration. After a tremendously successful two years, Jackie joined the Raymond A. Mason School of Business Williamsburg, VA, and her leadership ability has flourished as an Associate Dean. She remains actively involved with George Washington University, as she proudly support her passion for lifelong learning by teaching online graduate courses in Leadership and Executive Development and HR Analytics as an adjunct professor.

Jackie earned her Bachelor's Degree in International Business from Franklin University and completed her MBA in Applied Leadership from Franklin, as well.
