

Marianne Walker

Virginia Media

Marianne Walker is Director of Sales with Virginia Media, a Tribune Publishing Company.

Beginning her career in technology as a systems engineer and earning several technical certifications, Marianne discovered a passion for teaching others and took this passion to the classroom as a Technical Training Specialist. In 2005, Marianne entered the world of advertising as a media consultant and was later promoted to Sales Training Manager where she trained, coached and mentored hundreds of media consultants and sales leaders across the Mid-Atlantic region.

Since joining Pilot Media in 2010, Marianne has served in several leadership roles ranging from Sales Manager to Marketing and Strategic Development Manager. In late 2018, Pilot Media was acquired by Tribune Publishing and joined forces to form what is now known as Virginia Media. As Sales Director, Marianne oversees the media leaders and their teams serving the Virginia market and beyond.

The ever-changing landscape of consumer demand and marketing solutions, Marianne is dedicated to supporting the growth of local businesses.
