

Jennifer Mueller

Jennifer Mueller began her marketing career in real estate for a national builder while at college in Ohio. She returned to Virginia and worked for a local property management company before taking her skills to the advertising world. Currently, Jennifer is a Digital Strategist with Virginia Media, a division of Tribune Publishing with The Virginian-Pilot and Daily Press. She works with local, regional and national clients to create and implement multi-media advertising plans to reach their target goals and maximize their investment.