

Juan Camacho
Associate Director

Juan Camacho is the Associate Director of the State and Local Government Affairs Department at Fox Entertainment Group(FEG). Juan has been with Fox for three years and manages public policy activities in the individual states and represents FEG's interests to policy makers and community leaders. Juan's portfolio of issues at the State level include: production tax incentives, privacy, labor and employment content protection and any other issue that affects corporate and entertainment interests. At the local government level, Juan works on issues ranging from on location filming, permits and land use.

Juan is also responsible for the community investment arm of the department which focuses on the contribution and implementation of programs that meet the company strategy of Youth, Education, Arts and the Environment.

Juan came to Fox with extensive background and experience working in the various levels of government. Prior to joining FEG, Juan spent seven years working in Sacramento for members of the Legislature including former Assemblymember, and current member of Congress Gloria Negrete McLeod, and Speaker Fabian Nunez. Juan's legislative and policy experience encompassed issues relating to education, local government, public employee retirement and transportation. Juan's background also includes working as a Legislative Deputy to a former member of the Los Angeles City Council and as a Field Deputy for US Senator Barbara Boxer's Los Angeles office.

Juan graduated from the University of California, Davis with a Bachelor's degree in Political Science and History.
