

Larry Gray
Senior Managing Principal, S.E.C Civil Engineers, Inc.

Larry G. Gray joined Spindler Engineering, Inc. in 1968 after many years of work for the State Division of Highways in Tennessee and other local engineering companies. He later moved to S.E.C Civil Engineers, Inc. as its president and now works as an independent consultant to S.E.C Civil Engineers, Inc. He has an extensive planning and civil engineering background that spans over 45 years.

In his capacity at S.E.C Civil Engineers, Inc, Gray serves as the senior principal and project manager. He has been the principal planner and project manager in a wide range of projects that date back to the late 1960's. Included among these projects was the successful Bel Air Crest project that was a 278 unit single family home venture that moved over 7,000,000 cubic yards of dirt. Bel Air Crest was approved by the City of Los Angeles with no opposition.

Gray formerly served on the following boards and committees:

- Governmental Affairs Committee, Public Affairs Committee and other committees of the Building Industry Association (BIA).
- A member of the Los Angeles County Tax Assessors Advisory Council.
- A member of both Assembly Speaker Robert Hertzberg's and Assemblyman Lloyd Levin Business Advisory Commission.
- A board member of the Southern California Planning Congress and served as President in 1994
- Gray was appointed by Supervisor Mike Antonovitch to serve on the Sunshine Canyon Community Advisory Council.

Gray is serving on the following boards and committees:

- A member of the Board of Directors of the Valley Industrial & Commerce Association (VICA) and served as co-chairman of VICA's Transportation Committee for over 2 years.
- A member of the American Planning Association.
- A member of the Southern California Planning Congress.

While serving on various boards and committees, Gray participated in the preparation of the land form grading guide lines for the City of Los Angeles. He managed seminars for land use, planning, transportation and development. Gray was also a key participant in the development of many land use codes in the Los Angeles area.

Gray is a registered lobbyist with the City of Los Angeles and County of Los Angeles. In this capacity, he promotes many land use efforts throughout Southern California. Over the years, he has developed long-standing relationships with the local governmental authorities, as well as many of the local homeowners associations and special interest groups.

Gray received his education in both Tennessee and California and regularly participates in continuing education in land use and environmental law at the University of California at Los Angeles, the University of Southern California and Urban Land Institute.
