

Kelli Donley Williams is the state suicide prevention specialist at AHCCCS. She returned to this position in 2018 after previously serving in a similar role for ADHS and AHCCCS from 2013-2017. She has a BS in journalism from NAU and a graduate degree in public health from UofA. She is a published novelist, and is passionate about public health and public service. She serves on the boards for United Food Bank and the Arizona Public Health Association and has worked in public health since 2003.