

Nathan Donato-Weinstein

Business Development Officer | City of San Jose
Office of Economic Development

Nathan Donato-Weinstein is a business ambassador in the city's economic development office. Whether it's a retailer, a tech company, or a manufacturing business, Nathan helps to connect companies with opportunities in the city. He also works to analyze economic and real estate data in order to better inform city policies and decision-making. Before joining the city, he was a reporter covering commercial real estate for the Silicon Valley Business Journal.