

Register Now

February 26-27, 2019
Raleigh Convention Center

Registration is now open for the 2019 CED Life Science Conference, in partnership with NCBIO and NC Biotechnology Center. It is where leaders of the Life Science community come together to showcase the innovation and power of the Triangle Ecosystem. CED is excited to have the support of four major players.

- Matthew Kane, a serial entrepreneur, is manning a rocket ship called Precision BioSciences. They are the leaders in genome editing utilizing the ARCUS® editing platform to eliminate cancers, cure genetic diseases, and create safer, more productive food sources.
- Meg Powell has had her fair share of exposure in the Life Science community - McKinsey, Eli Lilly and GSK on her resume. She is now blazing her own path in the areas of real-world evidence and solutions, as CEO & Co-Founder of TARGET PharmaSolutions.
- Ken McBean, President and CEO, at Chiesi USA, a strategic ally to entrepreneurial companies in the Triangle. Chiesi established its US HQ in Cary, after acquiring local startup Cornerstone Therapeutics in 2014. They continue to work towards improving the lives of people with acute, rare and chronic disorders.
- Christy Shaffer, a long-time supporter and past board chair of CED, she is a seasoned entrepreneur and biotech executive. She is now general partner at one of the largest funds investing in Life Science companies in the Triangle, Hatteras Venture Partners.
