Building Opportunities: The BWiC Luncheon Series with Gilbane May 7, 2018 Gilbane Building Company

Join us for an engaging discussion with Becky Severson, Corporate Director of Safety at Gilbane Building Company, to discuss the power safe choices have on both our personal and professional life.

Our choices have the power to ripple across the communities, cities and countries in which we live, work and play. Every day, we are faced with choices: Decisions, from the mundane to the major, that set the stage for safety. While some of those choices may be second nature, like buckling seat belts, double-checking harnesses or wearing the right gloves on the job, others require practice before becoming habit. We must empower ourselves and each other to choose safety, time and time again - when we head to work at the beginning of the day, while we're on-site and until we arrive back home, safe again.

Join the discussion and share how we can leverage our power of our safe choices to create a safer, stronger industry for ourselves, our colleagues, our families and our friends.
