DATA INSIGHT

With 3,289 tech jobs listed in August, the market in KC is red hot. We have high-paying, stable careers, and the need continues to grow.

In-demand cover specialties including development, engineering, project management, and business interface roles. Companies beyond traditional technology firms are hiring in waves as tech continues to impact and influence change at the highest enterprise level.

As you evaluate your organization's workforce gaps, understanding the high demand skills in this area can help determine the appropriate amount of lead time.

ABOUT ECCO SELECT

At ECCO Select, we are the talent behind the technology. Since 1995, our skillful approach provides people, process and technology solutions throughout the country, though we have a soft spot for Kansas City. It's our home too.

We are proud to be a minority- and woman-owned business, but it's our people and work that set us apart and we're grateful the KC Tech Council invited us to contribute to this report.

It's a great time to be a part of the tech industry in Kansas City, though we've felt that way since 1995! We look forward to providing insight into the local workforce each month.
